Special Session Slated For Fall

By MILO DAKIN

RAYON POLICE The Louisiana Legislature will meet in special session soon after the Nov. 8 general election to reapportion its 111 seats, Gov. John McKeithen announced Friday. McKeithen said he had appointed a 17-man commission on reapportionment to study and make recommendations on a plan of plans within 90 days.

"I'll call a session without a specific recommendation," the governor said. "We have a lot of things to do. We could have at least 100 plans."

McKeithen said the commission would start meeting immediately.

"We are going to make a fresh start at reapportionment," he said. "It's obvious every serious plan considered or that even approached passing the legislature would have been declared unconstitutional." Referring to floor battles during the 60-day session, McKeithen said "All this turmoil would have come to naught."

Several Senate reapportionment plans were introduced into the Legislature this year, but the final one died in a filibuster on the last day of the session. The House passed a resolution saying it opposed a resolution to reapportion on a "one man, one vote" basis before Jan. 1, 1967, or every legislator would have to run state wide in the 1967 elections.

GIVE REASONS McKeithen gave his reasons for waiting until November to hold the session as political. "We are in the middle of political campaigns — and some tough ones, I might add," he said. "We are also in the middle of a governor's race. This now is not the time to call the Legislature into session."

The governor said reapportionment wasn't "racing a November election deadline." He said any reapportionment plan, even though it enlarged the

LBJ Views Space Cut As Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson struck Friday at steel price increases, saying such boosts could force a cut in government spending on things like the space program.

Johnson made no direct mention of the $2 and $3-a-ton increases posted by nearly all producers this week on two types of steel.

$5 BILLION BILL

But in a statement upon his signing of the $5 billion authorization bill for the space program, Johnson obviously was rapping the price hikes when he said: "If particular segments of our economy continue to raise their prices and increase the cost of this and other programs, it will be necessary for the government to further reduce its expenditures, particularly in those areas where prices are rising in an inflationary way."

The White House has called the price increases in steel irresponsible and inflationary but the steel companies describe them as inconsequential and modest.

Strip and sheet steel are the price boosts and these are used to a considerable extent in the space programs directed by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Although the White House has made no effort to roll back the increases, administration economists expressed fear Friday that they may trigger a new spiral of inflationary boosts in other fields.

Johnson said maintenance of the space program needs the cooperation of major business leaders and union leaders, went on. "They must recognize in their price and wage decisions that there is a third party in the board room, in the union hall and at the bargaining table — the people of the United States. If we are to continue our space effort and continue to make the magnificent progress represented by our past achievements, we can do so only if business and labor leaders will make their contribution by responsible bargaining and pricing decisions."

The NASA authorization which Johnson signed Friday is for the fiscal year which began July 1. Actual appropriations for the space program in the preceding fiscal year were $5.1 billion.

Although the steel price increases which go into effect next Wednesday are not as large as some made at other times, their possible impact on other industries is worrying administration economists.

"The seriousness of this thing is in its psychological effect rather than its direct cost contribution," one government source said.

But the steel industry found an ally in Republican congressional leaders for the $2 and $3-a-ton increases announced by virtually the entire industry on steel strip and sheet, the type used in automobiles and other consumer goods.

Planes Lost In Louisiana

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—State police district headquarters here said Friday two Navy planes on a flight from New Orleans to El Paso, Tex., were missing about 35 miles north of Lake Charles.

The U.S. Naval Air Station at Belle Chasse, a New Orleans suburb, confirmed that the two planes were due to land at El Paso at 3:30 p.m., CST.

The station duty officer said a search was under way.

State police said according to the information they received the two planes dropped out of a formation and were last seen by the other planes north of Lake Charles.

No reports of any crashes had been received at either the Beauregard or Allen Parish sheriff's offices. The two parishes are north of Lake Charles.

Possibilities Of Rain Seen

Warm temperatures prevailed in the Twin Cities Friday when the FAA at Selman Field reported a high of 88 degrees at 1 p.m. The same reading was recorded Thursday.

Low temperature Friday was 67, moving up one degree from Thursday's report.

70,000 Reds Of Viet Nam Now In Laos

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—About 70,000 North Vietnamese soldiers are operating in Laos in the clandestine but growing war spilling over from the conflict in Viet Nam, say intelligence reports.

The reports reaching Saigon show that some of this North Vietnamese force is operating with the Communist Pathet Lao. Other North Vietnamese infiltrate down the Ho Chi Minh trail to fight in South Viet Nam. Still others comprise support units for both these groups.

LAOTIAN RAIDS

The sizeable number of North Vietnamese in Laos has resulted in stepped up U.S. military activities and air raids in the landlocked kingdom, whose chief of state, Prince Souvanna Phouma, is officially neutral.

American bombing strikes, mainly aimed at slowing the infiltration of North Vietnamese men and supplies, have increased to more than 100 a day, as against less than 50 daily a few months ago, informants said.

These raids, staged with tacit permission of Souvanna Phouma, are carried out by U.S. fighter-bombers from Thailand bases and aircraft carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin off Viet Nam.

In addition, nighttime attacks by "dagger ships" against infiltrators have been increased. These are converted C47 twin-engine transports equipped with three machine guns of six barrels each. Each gun is capable of firing 8,000 rounds per minute.

There are, moreover, a variety of secret U.S. missions carried out against the insurgent Pathet Lao in the international shadow war.

U.S. planes, sometimes piloted by civilians, drop rice and weapons to Meo tribesmen, a warrior people enlisted to oppose the Communist forces. The Meos hold enclaves deep in Pathet Lao territory and have defied all efforts to annihilate them.

Other planes drop Special Forces agents to operate behind the lines in Laos or set up helicopter bases for rescue operations of downed U.S. pilots, informants said.

The stepped-up U.S. operation was indirectly acknowledged in Washington with the disclosure Thursday that 30 U.S. servicemen, mostly airmen, have been killed in Laos since 1961. This is 19 more than the Pentagon publicly admitted last May.

In addition, more than 30 U.S. military men are listed as missing and captured in Laos. Presumably, most if not all of these are downed American pilots now held prisoner.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Sen. Ross Bass conceded at noon Friday that Gov. Frank Clement had defeated him in the Democratic primary in his bid to return to the Senate from Tennessee.

DON WALDEN, 22, University of Texas student from San Antonio, and his girl friend, Cheryl Botts, 18, of Rockdale, saw sniper-slayer Charles Whitman just after he apparently killed his first victim during the shooting rampage at the University tower. The couple were visiting the tower about the time Whitman made his way to the top. On the way down they noticed the receptionist wasn't at her desk in the foyer and saw a man bending over a couch. They spoke to the man and he returned their greeting. Both said the man had guns with him. (AP Wirephoto)

Police Look For 6 Youths In Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A report that six youths were en route to Alabama bent on killing Gov. George C. Wallace brought stepped-up security restrictions at the State Capitol Friday and quick reaction in the Legislature.

Two more state troopers were assigned to the governor's security staff, while others were alerted to watch for a car with six occupants. There was no comment from Wallace.

FBI TIPOFF

The FBI notified state police Thursday night that six unidentified youths reportedly had left Washington, D.C., and were headed for Alabama in a car bearing an Alabama license plate.

An FBI spokesman said the bureau had received a tip from a Washington television station he said an employee of the station had been told by an anonymous telephone caller. "I will not repeat this, so listen carefully. Six youths have just left Washington 20 minutes ago to kill Gov. Wallace. This is not a prank. I know what I'm talking about. I shine shoes with these boys."

First word of the reported threat came in the State Senate Thursday night after a discussion of a resolution urging Alabama school boards to resist federal school desegregation guidelines.

Sen. Robert T. Wilson of Walker County, who offered the resolution, told his colleagues during a speech that the FBI first victims, were buried after a Requiem Mass.

U.S. Masses Huge Forces In Foot War

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—American fighter-bombers attacked oil depots and radar sites in the Haiphong area Friday and eluded six Soviet-made missiles during the raids, the U.S. Command announced Saturday.

Carrier-based Navy planes hit the Do Son oil dump 17 miles southeast of Haiphong and pilots reported hits on several storage tanks. The fliers said they left the target area on fire and sending up heavy smoke.

RADAR ATTACKED

Simultaneously, Air Force planes attacked radar sites 10 to 15 miles northwest of the port city. Results of the strikes were not announced.

During the raids, the Communists fired six surface-to-air missiles in the Haiphong area.

Around, one of the largest U.S. ground forces ever massed in Viet Nam swept the central highlands Friday seeking North Vietnamese regulars holed up in jungles or pulling back toward Cambodia.

A U.S. spokesman said no American planes were shot down by missiles or other anti-aircraft fire Friday.

In other attacks over North Viet Nam, Air Force planes hit a truck convoy on Highway 1 in the Southern Panhandle just 8 miles north of the demilitarized zone. Pilots reported 25 secondary explosions, indicating successful hits on ammunition or fuel in the convoy.

In another raid in the Southern Panhandle, Navy planes struck at an oil depot 45 miles northwest of the coastal city of Vinh and pilots reported a large secondary explosion.

U.S. military headquarters today reported no significant ground action in South Viet Nam. Headquarters announced the end of Operation Chameleon, which began Tuesday.

This was a road security operation by units of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division. The objective was to protect Highway 12, an ambush target of the Viet Cong.

The infantrymen operated through the week along the highway 20 to 60 miles north of Saigon. During the operation, one of the longest military convoys of the war successfully traveled the route. The convoy comprised 311 supply trucks.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said a Vietnamese force of multibattalion size sweeping Mekong Delta land about 65 miles southwest of Saigon killed 38 Viet Cong and captured three Government casualties were described as light.

Luci Baines Johnson, 19, and Patrick J. Nugent, 22, accompanied by President and Mrs. Johnson and everyone else involved, went through a two-hour rehearsal for their wedding.

The ceremony will take place at noon today in the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, a Roman Catholic Church high on a hill overlooking the city.

There were two run-throughs of the ceremony. "I thought they were just beautiful," said Mrs. Johnson.

But Nugent said: "I was running around so much, I didn't know what I was doing." Luci told onlookers: "I'm so nervous."

The President remarked: "I just did what they told me to."

Special Session Slated For Fall

BATON ROUGE — The Louisiana Legislature will meet in special session soon after the Nov. 8 general election to reapportion its 144 seats, Gov. John McKeithen announced Friday. McKeithen said he had appointed a 17-man commission on reapportionment to study and make recommendations "on a plan or plans" within 90 days.

"If I call a session without a concrete recommendation," the governor said, "We'd have nothing but utter chaos. We would have at least 100 plans."

McKeithen said the commission would start meeting immediately.

"We are going to make a fresh start at reapportionment," he said. "It's obvious every serious plan considered or that even approached passing the Legislature would have been declared unconstitutional." Referring to floor battles during the 60 day session, McKeithen said "All this turmoil would have come to naught."

Several Senate reapportionment plans were introduced into the Legislature this year, but the final one died in a filibuster on the last day of the session. The House passed a resolution saying it intended to reapportion after the 1970 census.

But a three-man federal panel last week ordered both houses to reapportion on a "one man, one vote" basis before Jan. 1, 1967, or every legislator would have to run state-wide in the 1967 elections.

GIVE REASONS

McKeithen gave his reasons for waiting until November to hold the session as political. "We are in the middle of political campaigns — and some tough ones, I might add," he said. "We are also in the middle of a governor's race. This (now) is not the time to call the Legislature into session."

The governor said reapportionment wasn't "racing a November election deadline." He said any reapportionment plan, even though it enlarged the present legislative membership, would not have to be submitted to the people. "That part of the law is unconstitutional," the governor said the courts had indicated to him.

McKeithen explained the special session would probably be short. "If we can't reapportion in 12 to 15 days, we can't reapportion at all," he said.

The governor said he had "tried to get men who had not become involved in out-and-out controversy over reapportionment. We want to keep this thing as nearly free of politics as we can."

Named to serve on the commission.

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Sniper-slayer Charles J. Whitman spared the lives of a young couple in the University of Texas tower and gave them a sunny smile minutes after he had shot one of his 15 victims, it was revealed Friday.

"I don't know why he didn't kill us — I guess I will never know," said Cheryl Botts, 18, of Rockdale, Tex.

Whitman, the 25-year-old student who went berserk and killed his wife, mother and 13 others Monday before police shot him dead, was buried Friday in Christian services in Florida.

The priest said "God in his infinite mercy" has forgiven him.

Miss Botts and Don Walden, 22, of San Antonio, Tex., were in the 27-story tower sightseeing Monday. They stepped off the observation deck, which Whitman minutes later was to make his sniper's lair, into the receptionist's station.

The receptionist was not there, the young couple said, but a blond man was, bending over a couch at one side of the room.

There was a spot on the floor near the desk and Walden stepped around it when Miss Botts told him about it. The blond man turned.

"Hi"

"We smiled and said, 'Hello,'" Miss Botts said, "and he smiled real big and said, 'Hi, how are you?'"

The blond man had two rifles, which Walden thought he might ask about. Then he decided they were for shooting pigeons. The couple headed down the stairs toward the elevator landing below.

When they emerged at the tower's ground floor they discovered the pleasant young man who had greeted them with a smile and two rifles at the top was shooting person after person from the tower.

The slain Miss Botts and Walden saw blood. The couch over which the young man upstairs in the tower had bent was a hiding place for dying receptionist, Edna Townsley.

A grand jury report said Thursday Whitman went to the top of the tower, which is 307 feet tall, knowing he would not get away alive.

The jurors took evidence from doctors, police and others and differed somewhat in their interpretation of the tumor Whitman had growing on his brain. The jury report said the pean-sized tumor "undoubtedly caused him much mental pain and possibly contributed to his insane actions."

Pathologist Dr. Coleman de Chenar had said the tumor would not have caused headaches but might have aggravated them. De Chenar said Whitman was "an anti-social psychopath, and that's the worst kind."

The jury said the slaying of Whitman by police was "justifiable homicide."

In Lake Worth, Fla., Whitman and his mother, one of his first victims, were buried after a Requiem Mass.

take my instructions from Mrs. Johnson."

It was the last hectic day before marriage for the young couple who met a year ago and fell in love—the daughter of a President, and the son of a Waukegan, Ill., securities broker.

Wedding eve came to a close in the Georgetown section of Washington, where Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Nugent, parents of the bridegroom, gave a dinner dance for 64 guests.

As in all weddings, the last day was frantic. Luci slept late. Then she had her hair done by Jean Louis, the First Family's hairdresser. She kept her own style—page boy in back, flipped up on the sides.

Nugent spent the morning with his ushers, getting fitted in $11 rented cutaways and packing for his honeymoon. Just where the newlyweds will go has not been divulged.

The White House put on the finishing touches for the post-wedding reception. Pastry chef Ferdinand Louvat made the last layers of the seven-tiered wedding cake with real lilies of the valley.

U.S. Masses Huge Forces In Foot War

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American fighter-bombers attacked oil depots and radar sites in the Haiphong area Friday and eluded six Soviet-made missiles during the raids, the U. S. Command announced Saturday.

Carrier-based Navy planes hit the Do Son oil dump 17 miles southeast of Haiphong and pilots reported hits on several storage tanks. The fliers said they left the target area on fire and sending up heavy smoke.

RADAR ATTACKED

Simultaneously, Air Force planes attacked radar sites 10 to 15 miles northwest of the port city. Results of the strikes were not announced.

During the raids, the Communists fired six surface-to-air missiles in the Haiphong area. Around, one of the largest U.S. ground forces ever massed in Viet Nam swept the central highlands Friday seeking North Vietnamese regulars holed up in jungles or pulling back toward Cambodia.

A U.S. spokesman said no American planes were shot down by missiles or other anti-aircraft fire Friday.

In other attacks over North Viet Nam, Air Force planes hit a truck convoy on Highway 1 in the Southern Panhandle just 8 miles north of the demilitarized zone. Pilots reported 25 secondary explosions, indicating successful hits on ammunition or fuel in the convoy.

In another raid in the Southern Panhandle, Navy planes struck at an oil depot 45 miles northwest of the coastal city of Vinh and pilots reported a large secondary explosion.

U.S. military headquarters today reported no significant ground action in South Viet Nam. Headquarters announced the end of Operation Cheyenne, which began Tuesday.

This was a road security operation by units of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division. The objective was to protect Highway 13, an ambush target of the Viet Cong. The infantrymen operated through the week along the highway 30 to 60 miles north of Saigon. During the operation, one of the longest military convoys of the war successfully traveled the route. The convoy comprised 311 supply trucks.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said a Vietnamese force of multibattalion size sweeping Mekong Delta land about 65 miles southwest of Saigon killed 38 Viet Cong and captured 38. Government casualties were described as light.

Chicago Hate Awes Negroes

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was struck on the head by a rock and a white youth was wounded by a knife thrown at King Friday as rioting wracked a Southwest Side all-white neighborhood for the second time in six days.

King said he had never seen such hate. He said Chicago was worse than any Southern city.

A semblance of peace returned to the ordinarily tidy

(Related Story Page 3A)

Chicago Lawn neighborhood late Friday night, some seven hours after King led 800 demonstrators on a mass march protesting against alleged housing discrimination. The area was strewn with broken glass, rocks and other debris.

The peace came after 1,200 policemen fought repeated clashes with gangs of white youths. The clashes came after the demonstrators had left the area.

Will Reverse Psychology Bring Beatles More Fame?

By TRAVIS MAYO
World Staff Writer

Craze to die a horribly abrupt death. The question of the day is: "How far are Beatle image makers willing to go to keep 'Beatlemania' alive?" Time was when the Unhappily Married Quartet had the incredible power to evoke frenzied emotions among the young. Between mid-1963 and early 1965 the subjects of 36 major articles in national magazines.

Now the Beatles are planning a new American tour, opening Friday in Chicago. There have been no articles of them in magazines during the last two months. Where are the crowds of screaming, weeping and flipping teenagers?

The crowds are home packing records for anti-Beatle bonfires and everywhere the conversation is turning to George, Paul, Ringo and John.

So the Mog Tops have done it again. By the simple use of reverse psychology, they have managed to make themselves the number one topic of the day on the eve of their national tour.

But what price glory? What magic ingredient has been used to keep the Beatle craze rolling? The statement by Lennon that whipped up the tempest was, "Christianity was go. It will vanish and shrink... We're more popular than Jesus now... Jesus was all right, but his disciples were thick and ordinary. What has people concerned about the statement by Lennon is whether it is simply a publicity stunt or whether it reflects the teenage mood of the times.

Bill Hollingsworth, a Monroe resident attending Georgia Tech, may have summed up the impressions made on teenagers and college students by Lennon's statement when the 20-year-old Monrovia said: "The Beatles have always enjoyed getting publicity by making controversial statements and by doing things which might not always be approved of by all the one interview of them I have read contained many such curt, sardonic, but highly intelligent criticisms of modern society. Perhaps they went a little too far in their last statement, but I feel that the statement was made jokingly and that it does not sincerely reflect their opinion."

Ten of 12 Twin City teen-agers and students interviewed said, however, that they would attend the Beatles held a concert tonight in Monroe. Several like Cheryl Womack, 17, a West Monroe High School student, said they would attend "just to see what the Beatles would have to say about things."

Students interviewed agreed that popular entertainers definitely set teenage fashions but do not generally influence moral standards. "They do set fashions and they influence the beliefs and moral standards of some teen-agers," Vicki LaGrone, 15, said. Vicki is a Ouachita High School student and a member of the Rachel Theta Rho Girls Club, No. 15, a form of the Robecca's and Oddfellows variation is turning to George, Paul, Ringo and John.

One radio station in Monroe has announced that it will have a bonfire to burn Beatle records. Teen-agers in Alexandria attracted the attention of the wire services when they announced they would have a "Beatle bonfire" at 5 p.m. today in Brimhurst Park to burn Beatle records, pictures and magazine articles.

Monroe teen-agers interviewed said in general that they were honestly repulsed by Lennon's statement but several did not plan to go so far as to burn their Beatle records. "I would not burn them," Charles Dorman, 18, said. "First, because I would not destroy my investment. Second, it does not accomplish anything. For example, Hitler burned books but he didn't burn out the ideas contained in the books, that is, burning the records won't necessarily stamp out the Beatles or their music."

Dorman, of 1410 Forsythe Avenue and an upcoming freshman at Louisiana State University, feels Lennon's comment was "a foolish thing to say." A performer, Dorman believes, should not say he is great, "much less say he is 'greater than Christ'."

Asked if she planned to burn her Beatle records, Cheryl Womack, 17, a West Monroe High School student, said "I haven't thought about it, but it could be a good idea."

Cheryl Taylor, 16, of West Monroe High School, feels the Beatles should be banned. "Their statement shouldn't have been stated," she said. "They'll never be as high as Jesus. I'm just plain against them."

Marsha Averett, 15, of West Monroe High School, said she once thought the Beatles "were great," but that now she has changed her mind about them. She now prefers The Association, The Circles, the Dave Clark Five, The Kinks and the Rolling Stones.

Denny Lee, 15, of Wossman, likes Beatle music but "I don't like the way they have their hair cut."

Most teen-agers, like Nancy Thomas, 14, of West Monroe High School "loved the Beatles before" but now are "not too sure." The Beatle-type music will remain with us for some time to come, Miss Thomas feels.

No Milk Hike Is Seen Here

BATON ROUGE (Special) — No increase in consumer milk prices should result from price rulings announced Friday by the Louisiana Milk Commission, except in the New Orleans metropolitan area, according to the commission's executive secretary, Ellis C. Magee.

When federal authorities made substantial increases in minimum raw milk prices in July of this year, processors in most sections of Louisiana increased their prices to reflect the higher cost of raw milk, as did processors throughout the nation, Magee reported.

At the Commission's hearing, held last week in Baton Rouge, the commission was requested to establish minimum milk prices which would be substantially the same as the level to which prices had already risen in most of the state. The commission's spokesman announced that this request was granted.

Special Session Slated For Fall

Jesse Knowles, Lake Charles; and Cecil Morgan, dean of the Tulane University School of Law.

McKeithen said he did not plan to include any tough issues in his call for a special session, to avoid cluttering up the convention "with any controversial issues other than re-appointment."

He did leave the way open, however, for further consideration of a special sales tax bill for 14 Northeast Louisiana parishes, which has caused some concern due to "bad wording."

Referring to no particular legislation, the governor said "we may have to rewrite a few paragraphs or change a few words," in acts already signed into law containing minor mistakes.

The chief executive said he did not designate a chairman of the reappointment commission, because it was better for them to elect their own. He served notice, however, that he was behind "whatever the commission decides."

This session will be the second one called by McKeithen since assumed office in 1964. The chairman of the Treasury first was to consider teacher pay raises in November of 1964.

president; Buff Linzey, state marshals; and Judy Heggwood, state president. The annual state assembly is being held in Monroe this weekend with three chapters of the five state chapters being represented.

Theta Rho Girls Club Meet Here

About 35 girls representing three state chapters of Theta Rho Girls Club are in Monroe for the annual state assembly this weekend.

The organization is sponsored by the Oddfellow and Rebecca lodges in the state. Represented at the assembly are Rachel Chapter No. 15 of West Monroe, Ouachita Chapter No. 18 of Monroe and Isabelle Chapter No. 19 of New Iberia.

Visiting dignitaries for the two-day assembly are Mrs. L. S. Bridges, chairman of the joint youth committee and Mrs. Vesta Jester, co-chairman of the joint youth committee.

Miss Judy Heggwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Heggwood of 317 N. McGuire, Monroe, was installed as new state president Friday evening following a banquet in the Gold Room of the Francis Hotel. She is a member of the Ouachita Chapter, Mrs. Lucy Huckabee is the advisor for the group and Mrs. Gladys Grayson is co-advisor.

Passman Speech To Jaycees Set

Congressman Otto E. Passman of Monroe will be guest speaker at the 7:30 p.m. Tuesday meeting of the Monroe Jaycees at the Pricedaddy Cafeteria Banquet Room on Louisville Avenue.

Jaycee member J. N. Dimos is program chairman. Passman is a member of the Committee on Appropriations; is chairman of the Foreign Operations Subcommittee, and vice chairman of the Treasury, Coast Guard and Post Office subcommittees.

Meeting Set On Private School Here

Officials of Ouachita Academy, Inc., will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the West Monroe branch of the Ouachita Parish Public Library, 315 Cypress, to discuss the organization of a private school in the Twin Cities.

Calvin Guillory, president of the group, said "Persons interested in having their children attend a private school are urged to be present."

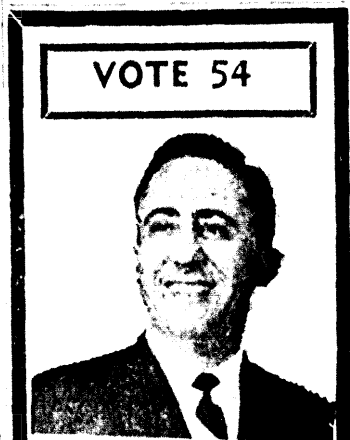

I. C. Strickland has been named principal of the new school. He was formerly principal of Ouachita Parish High School. Plans are now under way to construct the building, officials said.

Two hundred students must be enrolled before the school can begin the program for grades one through eight, an academy spokesman said. Officials said that most of the cost of attending would be borne by the state's grant-in-aid arrangement.

Rock Strikes King In Chicago, Youth Hit By Thrown Knife

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was struck with a rock and a white youth was wounded by a knife thrown at King as a riot erupted on Chicago's Southwest Side Friday.

The knife was hurled as King, chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, led 600 demonstrators on a march through a racially tense middle-class neighborhood.

Cherry bombs and rocks were thrown into the marchers by screaming, jeering residents of the all-white Chicago Lawn District. The marchers moved slowly down the street as thousands of residents rioted.

The white youth cut by the knife was taken away in a police car.

The youth was bleeding badly from a stab wound in the neck.

Hundreds of white residents sat in the street in front of the marchers. A cordon of policemen formed a wedge in front of the demonstrators who charged through them.

Several persons had been arrested. Others were injured.

Fights broke out in and near the marchers as the demonstrators moved along a tree-lined street six abreast.

Some 250 white teen-agers moved ahead of the march, carrying large Confederate and American flags.

The aim of the march was picketing of four real estate agencies.

Edward Marciniak, director of the Chicago Human Relations Commission, said that his office has received no complaints about the real estate firms on grounds of discrimination against Negroes.

Alderman Healy, whose 13th Ward includes the Gage Park neighborhood, termed the march a "subterfuge and a demonstration just for the sake of demonstration."

He said King and his followers have made no attempt to seek application of Chicago's fair housing ordinance. "They wanted this law so much," he said, "they should use it."

King has contended that there has been insufficient progress in integrating Chicago's white neighborhoods. Real estate dealers have refused to sell or rent property to Negroes in all white neighborhoods, he said.

King has asserted that his followers will demonstrate "until Chicago is an open city."

The area of the march is largely a section of neat one-story bungalows and two-flat buildings raised during the 1920s and 1930s and occupied by skilled workers of industry and white-collar store and office workers. Most of the homes are owned by their occupants. Gage Park has an ethnic background that is Lithuanian-Polish-German-Irish and Swedish. It has one of the lowest crime rates of any area in the city.

The normal atmosphere is in contrast with the more crowded old sections of the South and West Sides where Negroes live many under relatively cramped conditions and where the crime rates run high.

The big Negro section forms a two-to-three-mile band across the center of Chicago. Rioting in this area during the early July had spell brought out 4,000 National Guardsmen and resulted in two deaths, dozens of injuries and extensive vandalism and theft of property.

For the last week, gangs of Negro youths have been warring on both the South and West sides.

Thursday night violence erupted in scattered sections. A shotgun blast fired by Negro youths from a car on the West Side killed Mrs. Sally Jackson, 41, a Negro, who was expecting a baby.

On the South Side, a gang of young Negroes caught Henry Marshall, 19, alias Orville Mitchell, a Negro, outside a girl friend's apartment and stabbed him to death. Marshall was president of the Woodlawn Disciples gang, police said.

In Harvey, 18 miles south of downtown Chicago, policeman Fred Hess was wounded superficially in the chest during a rioting and vandalism rampage by 30 Negro youths. They stoned motorists, smashed store windows and stole television sets and firearms.

A dozen other instances of assault were reported during the night. Victims blamed some on members of Negro youth gangs such as the Blackstone Rangers and the Disciples.

In many instances, violence has been directed at policemen and firemen. Fire Commissioner Robert Quinn ordered extra men and equipment to answer alarms in the troubled West Side area where truck crews have been stoned and beaten while answering alarms.

More than 1,200 policemen attempted to control the white persons.

Police three deep charged into white persons blocking the march. Volleys of rocks and bottles were hurled.

King was struck on the right side of the head as he emerged from a car in Marquette Park to form the march to demonstrate against alleged housing discrimination.

"It hurts, but it's not an injury," King shouted over the screaming crowd. He was not treated.

Shout of "shoot King" rang out and the demonstrators were bombarded with missiles as the march moved out.

A barrage of rocks rained on the march from a bungalow and police charged into the house.

Residents perched in trees and threw rocks into the marchers.

The crowd shouted "police brutality" and "kill a cop." They waved Confederate flags and yelled "King go home."

King shouted above the uproar in the park before the march moved out and said Chicago is worse than any city in the South. The march appeared headed for the last of four real estate offices on the picketing schedule.

"I have to do this — to expose myself — to bring this hate into the open," King said. "I have never seen such hate — not in Mississippi or Alabama — as I see here in Chicago. It's sad and shocking to see the number of women in the crowd."

King was stabbed by a Negro woman in Harlem a few years ago. He was struck by a white man last year in a Selma, Ala., hotel lobby.

Several buses and vans carrying police reserves had been ordered into the park, but the crowds blocked their way.

In the park the jeering demonstrators sat in a circle. The King was struck on the right side of the head and threw missiles into the crowd.

Graduation Set Tonight At Northeast

Commencement exercises in Neville Auditorium will end Northeast Louisiana State College's 1966 summer session tonight.

Exercises will begin at 6:30 p.m. with Dr. C. C. Colvert, professor of education at the University of Texas and former head of Northeast, to be the commencement speaker.

A reception for graduates, their families and friends will be held immediately following the graduation exercises in the Neville Band Room.

Beginning at 2 p.m. today, commissioning ceremonies for summer graduates of Northeast's U.S. Army ROTC program will be held in Biedenharn Recital Hall on the campus.

Northeast President George T. Walker will introduce Dr. Colvert Saturday night and, assisted by Dean William R. Hammond and Dr. Lake Oxford, registrar, will confer the degrees. Dr. Hammond, dean of the School of Liberal Arts, will recognize the honor graduates and present the candidates for graduation.

The Rev. Earl Ogg, pastor of College Place Baptist Church, will pronounce the invocation and benediction. Mrs. Florence Z. Allbritton of the College music faculty will be the organist for the ceremonies and one of

Instant Equality Impossible

Instant coffee, instant tea, instant service and many other things provided in instant form have come to be looked upon as commonplace. There are some who apparently believe anything can come in "instant" packages. One of the most inane, inexcusable, incomprehensible and intolerable ideas that has swept across our United States of America in this generation is the apparent belief that instant equality for every man, woman and child in the United States can be bought like so much tea in a bag.

But equality, like education, is something that comes slowly and painstakingly over the years, if it comes at all. It comes by effort, endeavor, energy and education, by trial and error, by ambition and achievement, by intelligence and worship, by habit and home. And, when all is said and done, there is no such thing as absolute equality, for everything on earth, animate and inanimate, is different from all other things.

One noted writer has said that integrationists are seeking for the Negro race instant contentment. That, of course, is as remote as instant equality or instant education.

In the search for the impossible, this great United States of America, the wealthiest of all lands, with the most opportunity for all, has been subjected to terrible waves of rioting, looting, arson and murder in such cities as New York, Chicago, Cleveland and others.

Great Disgrace Comes

In the search for instant equality and instant contentment, which none can ever achieve, one of the greatest disgraces in the history of any nation has been foisted upon the citizens of this country. The great disgrace is not so much in the searching by the people who are really striving to better themselves but in the fact that members of the so-called Great Society, including the highest government officials of the land, not only have condoned and encouraged lawlessness but have "legally" stripped this country of a great part of its most priceless heritage — its freedom.

In this period of tragedy, innocent men and women have lost their lives or suffered very severe wounds. Great quantities of property have been destroyed, as though in a revolution. Proud cities have found it necessary to turn to military help in an effort to prevent rioters from destroying once peaceful communities.

These tragic events are not without their authors, to be sure. They are not meaningless accidents. But the arsonists, looters and snipers are not alone in bearing the burden of guilt for the brutal crimes committed. The real authors of the riots are the hundreds of professional agitators and their amateur "do-good" helpers, some in clerical garb, one is sad to say, who in recent years have shouted such slogans as "freedom now" and "we shall overcome." They have incited the ignorant to believing that the public must provide them with instant contentment, instant wealth, and instant freedom to do as they please.

Disobedience Preached

Prominent schools and clergymen have preached civil disobedience and recommended lie-ins, kneel-ins, sit-ins and other forms of assault on the rights of the public.

Moon-Flight Volunteers

Figures given in a Gallup Poll, announced in Princeton, N. J., showed that 18 million American people would like to go along on the first trip to the moon. That means there surely will be no shortage of volunteers when the first flight is made and, in all probability, it also means that plenty of people will want to make trips to the moon and other planets as time goes on. People of this country may be just as adventurous as they were back in the days of the pioneers.

Twenty-three per cent of the

lic. They laid the trail of powder that finally resulted in massive urban explosions in the Northeast and Middle West. They taught a new generation of supposedly "disadvantaged" youths that they didn't have to obey the law and that they should engage in "revolutionary" action to get what they want.

Well, Americans have now seen the true face of revolution. They have seen it in burning drugstores, children and elderly people cut and bleeding, in policemen lying on the ground after having been felled with a brick. Revolution is a horrible sight! And those who have idly preached street revolution for "civil rights" must share the guilt with the actual perpetrators of the deeds of violence. Before the deeds came the words of violence and the counsel of revolution.

Ironically, the "revolution" broke out during the summer when the Great Society is pouring out money in unprecedented sums in aid to slum dwellers. But the financial assistance of slums will not prevent repetition of violence.

It is true that big cities have slum problems, and that there is need for training programs and better ones. But people who truly want to improve their lot in life don't throw Molotov cocktails and burn down the neighborhood grocery store.

To end the violence that now afflicts the big cities it will be necessary to reverse the current of public opinion. Those who have preached instant contentment, at public expense, must be called to account. National leaders must scotch the idea that everyone is entitled to everything he wants.

Want Equality Tickets

The leaders of the "civil rights" movement, backed by the politicians of the Great Society, have encouraged the notion that equality can be handed out like tickets to a movie. Well, it can't be. What the American system makes possible is a chance for a man to earn the things he desires. Our system does not guarantee that the lazy, the greedy and unqualified citizen should be handed all the goodies he wants on a silver platter. Prominent "liberals" have encouraged precisely this idea of endless handouts. Thus, when the goodies were not produced overnight, the people who have the great expectations — and no inclination to work — turned to soft drink bottles filled with gasoline.

No country can tolerate the kind of lawlessness that has been revealed in Cleveland and Chicago this summer. No country can tolerate the ideas that provide the spark for the violence. In the United States the pendulum has swung far, far to one side. It is time for it to swing back in the direction of strict law enforcement, hard work, and civil responsibilities instead of civil "rights."

We believe the pendulum has already begun to swing back. We think people of this country, in vast numbers, from the highest to the lowest, including the nation's chief executive and perhaps even the members of the United States Supreme Court, are beginning to see the light.

People of this country can help them to see still more "light" by electing Congressmen who say, "Down with demagoguery and back to democracy."

What's This "Tight Money" They Talk About?

ROBERT ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

Dealing With Soviets Futile

Action Of State Department Hit

THE STATE Department's endless capacity for tepid chiding and patient tolerance in dealing with Soviet highhandedness and duplicity is as incomprehensible as it is stupid and futile.

Time and again the Russians have brazenly and insolently violated explicit understandings and written agreements, and all the State Department has done has been either to look the other way or, what amounts to the same thing reprovingly to "protest the arbitrary action."

Never is there immediate and forceful retaliation. Always the State Department pussyfoots and rationalizes, and invariably Moscow gets away with its affront and offense.

In the Johnson administration, this fatuous pusillanimity appears to be an ingrained fixation in high State Department quarters. There seems to be a psychological block that prevents these multi-degree masterminds from taking angry umbrage at such outrages and responding in the only way Communists understand and respect — with a hot and bare-knuckle crackdown.

In the very few recorded instances where this has been

Armenian capital Erivan, particularly among the young people who overflew the auditoriums to hear them. These exuberantly enthusiastic receptions obviously distressed the Communist rulers.

They clashed squarely with the official propaganda line that the Soviet masses are up in arms over U. S. Viet Nam policy. There wasn't the slightest indication of that among the cheering throngs that acclaimed the Hines jazz group.

So they were curiously banned to the sticks.

THE STATE Department reacted characteristically — by doing nothing.

Instead of instantly recalling the band and scathingly blasting the Kremlin for flouting both the letter and spirit of the new cultural exchange agreement, the department directed the U. S. embassy in Moscow to go through the motions of making an "oral protest" to the Foreign Office against the "arbitrary action in changing an already pre-arranged schedule."

Needless to say, the Russians couldn't care less. They didn't even bother to reply.

Why should they — particularly in view of the State Department's disclosure, in response to a newsman's question, that no retaliation is contemplated against two leading Soviet attractions slated to make extensive U. S. tours in the fall.

They are the Moscow Chamber Orchestra and Ukranian Folk Dance Ensemble. Their schedules call for more than a score of performances in principal U. S. cities, which are certain to net hundreds of thousands of dollars — to the Kremlin. The Bolshoi Ballet's countrywide tour last spring netted the Reds well over $1 million.

THAT VERY profitable trip was permitted by the State Department despite the Soviet's clearcut violation of the previous cultural exchange treaty in barring the world-famed "Hello, Dolly" musical with a cast headed by Mary Martin.

Other than "protesting" this outrage, the State Department did nothing. In fact, less than nothing. Instead of retaliating by excluding the Bolshoi Ballet, the "cookie pushers" welcomed it with open arms. They clustered around the Russian dancers like flies when they performed in Washington.

This fatuous record may explain why the department has yet to send to Congress its annual report on the cultural exchange program.

This is supposed to be submitted by July 1. But more than a month has passed and nothing has been received by the Senate and House foreign affairs committees. Members are beginning to ask questions, and talking of making a formal demand for a report.

EXPENSIVE RAZZLE — DAZZLE — Cost of the huge Lucif-Pat marriage ceremony and numerous lavish affairs preceding and following it, when all the bills are in, will be more than a half-million dollars — with taxpayers picking up the tab for an estimated $200,000.

This involuntary public "contribution" will derive from such costs as making P. B. L. (partial background information) checks on the hundreds of guests, newsmen, photographers and radio-TV personnel covering the wedding; special police and guards; street cleaning after the event; great quantities of flowers from the White House and Botanical gardens; use of scores of government employees for secretarial and many other services; countless long-distance phone calls over official lines; photographing by government agencies for historical purposes; Marine and other service bands; packing, crating and shipping the mountain of wedding gifts; etc., etc., etc.

RALPH de TOLEDANO

Tide Of Republicans Going Conservative

THE TIDE WITHIN the Republican Party, as even the Ripon Society grudgingly admits, is running conservative. The Ripon Society, for those who came in late, is made up of arch-liberals who caused in a phone booth after failing to get a toehold in the Republican leadership councils. The cause for conservative strength, these left-of-center calamity howlers, argue, is the failure of "moderates" to organize properly and to take the "extremist" threat seriously. By their definition, all 27 million people who voted for Barry Goldwater in 1964 are "extremists" — and where do you stand?

It is true that Republican conservatives are making a good showing within the party. And there is no reason why they shouldn't. Only when ghosts and bogeys are paraded before them do grassroots Republicans waver in their essential conservatism. And many who deserted Senator Goldwater in 1964 are suffering pangs of conscience and, with a regret look at the White House, regret. So they have rallied to Ronald Reagan, whose political life was presumably compromised by the TV speeches he made for Barry in the last campaign. And other Goldwaters have been winning primaries with startling regularity and few exceptions.

BUT IF THIS conservative tide is so clearly discernible within the GOP, how does it look in the country as a whole? This is hard to gauge. Once the Democrats and the Republicans square off, other considerations enter into the decisions of the voters — local issues, geography, tradition, and the personality of the contending candidates. It is too early to make predictions about national attitudes, moreover, though on every side President Johnson's popularity seems to be increasingly compromised.

In California, the Democrats are asking Mr. Johnson not to attempt to campaign for Governor Edmund (Pat) Brown — and they point to polls which, in varying degrees, have shown a drastic slipping in his acceptability by the voters. The slip in the face he received from the striking airline machinists will do him no good, for it is the first substantial indication that the labor faction in his "consensus" is seriously disaffected. A year ago, no organization would have had the nerve to treat the President so cavalierly.

IN ILLINOIS, there will be no conservative vs. liberal confrontation in the Senatorial race. But Charles Percy, running against Senator Paul Douglas, is pulling ahead. Certainly he is no conservative, but he stands to the right of Mr. Douglas — as do many a legislator as you will find in Congress. The conservatives are not overjoyed by Mr. Percy, but they are working hard in the hope that a breakthrough will be the first step toward recapturing what was one of their midwestern bastions.

Governor George Romney seems like a shoo-in with Michigan's voters, despite the opposition of Walter Reuther and his United Auto Workers, and if the polls are accurate he will swing in with him Senator Robert Griffin, who may not always run with the conservatives but will nevertheless steer clear of the left. But Mr. Romney's success in his home state is not being matched elsewhere. He is making his Presidential bid too early and too feebly. His "image" has been tarnished by his refusal to take a stand on Vietnam — one way or another — and he has been given what may amount to a kiss of death by New York's Governor Nelson Rockefeller and by Senator Jacob Javits, the only semi-open candidate for the GOP's 1968 Vice Presidential nomination. If Mr. Romney falls, Mr. Rockefeller can take credit for torpedoing three Republican Presidential candidates in a row — Richard Nixon and Mr. Goldwater with intent, Mr. Romney, by endorsing him.

THE REAL TEST of burgeoning Republican strength will be in the South. And of the states of the Old Confederacy, Alabama may be the critical one. For the GOP is fielding two strong candidates there — Representative James Martin for the governorship (against Governor George Wallace's stand-in, Mrs. Lurleen Wallace) and John Grenier for the U. S. Senate (taking on the politically deflated Senator John Sparkman). Of the two, Mr. Martin has the tougher assignment, for the riots in the North have strengthened Mr. Wallace's hold on the segregationist vote. Mr. Grenier is running against an incumbent whose at-home conservatism and in-Washington liberalism have begun to catch up with him. Mr. Grenier has, moreover, been through the wars of organizing Mr. Goldwater's Southern successes and is a tough campaigner, but Jim Martin is no slouch at that and may still triumph.

If the Republicans expand their Southern base, it will not radically change the conservative-liberal balance of Capitol Hill. But it will stiffen the backs of those Republican conservatives who sometimes heed the siren song of the Ripon Society and its adjunct. The effect will be salutary, and it may lead to some switches in party label among Southern Democrats who have long felt uncomfortable in their party.

In the months to come, the picture will become clearer, particularly if the nation's conservatives take heart.

Divided Policy Can Beat U.S. In Viet Nam

THE POLITICAL left's chant that there can be no military victory in Viet Nam fits their prejudices like a glove. It does not fit the facts.

There can be a victory, and Communists cannot prevent it. Only half-hearted, unsure, divided policies of this administration can defeat us.

The whys and wherefores of victory are well known to the military even if they are often obscured in the politically expedient evasions of civilian theorists who attempt to manage the war and its news.

A thorough study by the Army has thrashed out every detail of 64 insurgent wars in which there were lessons applicable to Viet Nam. The main conclusion had little to do with the "magic numbers" game which the administration now is playing: the idea that a certain ratio of U. S. troops to Communist troops will turn the tide.

The study concluded that the sort of warfare which the Communists are waging in South Viet Nam collapses when the population turns against the insurgents and will not protect, feed, hide nor spy for them, lie or die for them.

IN A POPULATION such as South Viet Nam this does not involve clear-cut allegiances to political doctrines, but the more basic matters of ancestral land, family safety and individual survival.

To the rural population of South Viet Nam, the war largely has meant trying to get along with whichever side was dominant in the village area at any particular moment. This is no longer as easy as it used to be.

The Viet Cong, hard-pressed by U. S. bombardment of their bases and supply depots, is forced to exact more and more tribute from the rural population, to use terror more often than enticement. Also, the spreading umbrella of U. S. airpower, plus the increasing sight everywhere of U. S. ground troops, is eroding the rural hope of neutrality. The war is now everywhere, and the population must make a choice.

THE CRUCIAL point is this: in making that choice, the rural population now can see that communism has little to offer except more hardship and bloodshed. On the other hand, even while U. S. planes roar overhead, U. S. aid and U. S. hands actually are helping, not just promising, the rural population on which the Communists previously had depended for support.

Despite any propaganda, the rural Vietnamese now can see that the medicine and the food of his government and its allies are solid and that the exhortations of the Communists are hollow.

One result, not immediately but possibly, could be to force the Viet Cong into fighting an ever more conventional sort of fixed-piece warfare in which U. S. airpower would be absolutely decisive. Airpower is crucial, and it is through its extension, rather than through an escalation of ground forces, that I see the best chances for victory.

No matter how you slice it, the key to victory in Viet Nam involves a military defeat of the Communists which makes possible the victory of helping hands in the villages. In the world of conflict forced on us by the Communists, the sword of freedom must win the time and places for the work of peace to proceed.

Bible Digest

H. B. Dean

"Ye are of God, little children, and have overcome that is in you, than he that them; because greater is he in the world." 1 John 4:4. We come to master the problems from without when we learn to appropriate power from within. "Nothing shall be impossible unto you."

Repeats Holtzclaw: "The American public knows its money better than any other people in the world know their national currency. This is the key reason why our money is the most counterfeit-proof in the world."

Instant Equality Impossible

Instant coffee, instant tea, instant service and many other things provided in instant form have come to be looked upon as commonplace. There are some who apparently believe anything can come in "instant" packages. One of the most inane, inexcusable, incomprehensible and intolerable ideas that has swept across our United States of America in this generation is the apparent belief that instant equality for every man, woman and child in the United States can be bought like so much tea in a bag.

But equality, like education, is something that comes slowly and painstakingly over the years, if it comes at all. It comes by effort, endeavor, energy and education, by trial and error, by ambition and achievement, by intelligence and worship, by habit and home. And, when all is said and done, there is no such thing as absolute equality, for everything on earth, animate and inanimate, is different from all other things.

One noted writer has said that integrationists are seeking for the Negro race instant contentment. That, of course, is as remote as instant equality or instant education.

In the search for the impossible, this great United States of America, the wealthiest of all lands, with the most opportunity for all, has been subjected to terrible waves of rioting, looting, arson and murder in such cities as New York, Chicago, Cleveland and others.

Great Disgrace Comes

In the search for instant equality and instant contentment, which none can ever achieve, one of the greatest disgraces in the history of any nation has been foisted upon the citizens of this country. The great disgrace is not so much in the searching by the people who are really striving to better themselves but in the fact that members of the so-called Great Society, including the highest government officials of the land, not only have condoned and encouraged lawlessness but have "legally" stripped this country of a great part of its most priceless heritage — its freedom.

In this period of tragedy, innocent men and women have lost their lives or suffered very severe wounds. Great quantities of property have been destroyed, as though in a revolution. Proud cities have found it necessary to turn to military help in an effort to prevent rioters from destroying once peaceful communities.

These tragic events are not without their authors, to be sure. They are not meaningless accidents. But the arsonists, looters and snipers are not alone in bearing the burden of guilt for the brutal crimes committed. The real authors of the riots are the hundreds of professional agitators and their amateur "do-good" helpers, some in clerical garb, one is sad to say, who in recent years have shouted such slogans as "freedom now" and "we shall overcome." They have incited the ignorant into believing that the public must provide them with instant contentment, instant wealth, and instant freedom to do as they please.

Disobedience Preached

Prominent schools and clergymen have preached civil disobedience and recommended lie-ins, kneel-ins, sit-ins and other forms of assault on the rights of the pub-

Moon-Flight Volunteers

Figures given in a Gallup Poll, announced in Princeton, N. J., showed that 18 million American people would like to go along on the first trip to the moon. That means there surely will be no shortage of volunteers when the first flight is made and, in all probability, it also means that plenty of people will want to make trips to the moon and other planets as time goes on. People of this country may be just as adventurous as they were back in the days of the pioneers.

Twenty-three per cent of the

lic. They laid the trail of powder that finally resulted in massive urban explosions in the Northeast and Middle West. They taught a new generation of supposedly "disadvantaged" youths that they didn't have to obey the law and that they should engage in "revolutionary" action to get what they want.

Well, Americans have now seen the true face of revolution. They have seen it in burning drug stores, children and elderly people cut and bleeding, in policemen lying on the ground after having been felled with a brick. Revolution is a horrible sight! and those who have idly preached street revolution for "civil rights" must share the guilt with the actual perpetrators of the deeds of violence. Before the deeds came the words of violence and the counsel of revolution.

Ironically, the "revolution" broke out during the summer when the Great Society is pouring out money in unprecedented sums in aid to slum dwellers. But the financial assistance of slums will not prevent repetition of violence.

It is true that big cities have slum problems, and that there is need for training programs and better ones. But people who truly want to improve their lot in life don't throw Molotov cocktails and burn down the neighborhood grocery store.

To end the violence that now afflicts the big cities it will be necessary to reverse the current of public opinion. Those who have preached instant contentment, at public expense, must be called to account. National leaders must scotch the idea that everyone is entitled to everything he wants.

Want Equality Tickets

The leaders of the "civil rights" movement, backed by the politicians of the Great Society, have encouraged the notion that equality can be handed out like tickets to a movie. Well, it can't be. What the American system makes possible is a chance for a man to earn the things he desires. Our system does not guarantee that the lazy, the greedy and unqualified citizen should be handed all the goodies he wants on a silver platter. Prominent "liberals" have encouraged precisely this idea of endless handouts. Thus, when the goodies were not produced overnight, the people who have the great expectations — and no inclination to work — turned to soft drink bottles filled with gasoline.

No country can tolerate the kind of lawlessness that has been revealed in Cleveland and Chicago this summer. No country can tolerate the ideas that provide the spark for the violence. In the United States the pendulum has swung far, far to one side. It is time for it to swing back in the direction of strict law enforcement, hard work, and civil responsibilities instead of civil "rights."

We believe the pendulum has already begun to swing back. We think people of this country, in vast numbers, from the highest to the lowest, including the nation's chief executive and perhaps even the members of the United States Supreme Court, are beginning to see the light.

People of this country can help them to see still more "light" by electing Congressmen who say, "Down with demagoguery and back to democracy."

Dealing With Soviets Futile

Action Of State Department Hit

THE STATE Department's done, the Reds quickly and endlessly capacity for tepid chiding and patient tolerance in dealing with Soviet highhandedness and duplicity is as incomprehensible as it is stupid and futile.

Time and again the Russians have brazenly and insolently violated explicit understandings and written agreements, and all the State Department has done has been either to look the other way or, what amounts to the same thing reprovingly to "protest the arbitrary action."

Never is there immediate and forceful retaliation. Always the State Department pussyfoots and rationalizes, and invariably Moscow gets away with its affront and offense.

In the Johnson administration, this fatuous pusillanimity appears to be an ingrained fixation in high State Department quarters. There seems to be a psychological block that prevents these multi-degree masterminds from taking angry umbrage at such outrages and responding in the only way Communists understand and respect — with a hot and bare-knuckle crackdown.

In the very few recorded instances where this has been meekly backed down. But this momentous lesson seems wholly lost on the mincing and lah-de-dahing "cookie pushers." They apparently are incapable of grasping its crucial import.

Whether this basic defect is due to lack of brains or guts or both is conjectural. But whatever it is, they don't have it — to the grief and detriment of our country.

SAME BITTER STORY — What has just happened to the Earl (Fatha) Hines jazz band touring Russia, under the recently renewed cultural exchange treaty, is the latest example of this State Department fatuousness.

In direct violation of a carefully worked out and approved schedule of performances by these outstanding jazz musicians in Moscow, Leningrad and other major cities, the Kremlin abruptly and without explanation shunted them to small centers in the provincial Black Sea area.

Before this sudden shift in itinerary, the Hines players had scored tremendous hits in the Ukrainian capital Kiev, the Georgian capital Tiflis, and the Armenian capital Erivan, particularly among the young people who overflew the auditoriums to hear them. These exuberantly enthusiastic receptions obviously distressed the Communist rulers.

They clashed squarely with the official propaganda line that the Soviet masses are up in arms over U. S. Viet Nam policy. There wasn't the slightest indication of that among the cheering throngs that acclaimed the Hines jazz group.

So they were curtly banned to the sticks.

THE STATE Department reacted characteristically — by doing nothing.

Instead of instantly recalling the band and scathingly blasting the Kremlin for flouting the both the letter and spirit of the new cultural exchange agreement, the department directed the U. S. embassy in Moscow to go through the motions of making an "oral protest" to the Foreign Office against the "arbitrary action in changing an already pre-arranged schedule."

Needless to say, the Russians couldn't care less. They didn't even bother to reply.

Why should they — particularly in view of the State Department's disclosure, in response to a newsman's question, that no retaliation is contemplated against two leading Soviet attractions slated to make extensive U. S. tours in the fall.

They are the Moscow Chamber Orchestra and Ukrainian Folk Dance Ensemble. Their schedules call for more than a score of performances in principal U. S. cities, which are certain to net hundreds of thousands of dollars — to the Kremlin. The Bolshoi Ballet's countrywide tour last spring netted the Reds well over $1 million.

THAT VERY profitable trip was permitted by the State Department despite the Soviet's clearest violation of the previous cultural exchange treaty in barring the world-famed "Hello, Dolly" musical with a cast headed by Mary Martin.

Other than "protesting" this outrage, the State Department did nothing. In fact, less than nothing. Instead of retaliating by excluding the Bolshoi Ballet, the "cookie pushers" welcomed it with open arms. They clustered around the Russian dancers like flies when they performed in Washington.

This fatuous record may explain why the department has yet to send to Congress its annual report on the cultural exchange program.

This is supposed to be submitted by July 1. But more than a month has passed and nothing has been received by the Senate and House foreign affairs committees. Members are beginning to ask questions, and talking of making a formal demand for a report.

EXPENSIVE RAZZLE - DAZZLE — Cost of the huge Lucifair marriage ceremony and numerous lavish affairs preceding and following it, when all the bills are in, will be more than a half-million dollars — with taxpayers picking up the tab for an estimated $200,000.

This involuntary public "contribution" will derive from such costs as making P. B. I. (partial background information) checks on the hundreds of guests, newsmen, photographers and radio-TV personnel covering the wedding; special police and guards; street cleaning after the event; great quantities of flowers from the White House and Botanical gardens; use of scores of government employees for secretarial and many other services; countless long-distance phone calls over official lines; photography by government agencies for historical purposes; Marine and other service bands; packing, crating and shipping the mountain of wedding gifts; etc., etc., etc.

Tide Of Republicans Going Conservative

THE TIDE WITHIN the Republican Party, as even the Ripon Society grudgingly admits, is running conservative. The Ripon Society, for those who came in late, is made up of arch-liberals who caucused in a phone booth after failing to get a toe-hold in the Republican leadership councils. The cause for conservative strength, these left-of-center calamity howlers, argue, is the failure of "moderates" to organize properly and to take the "extremist" threat seriously. By their definition, all 27 million people who voted for Barry Goldwater in 1964 are "extremists" — and where do you stand?

It is true that Republican conservatives are making a good showing within the party. And there is no reason why they shouldn't. Only when ghosts and bogeys are paraded before them do grassroots Republicans waver in their essential conservatism. Distinction Is Achieved By Local Girl

RUSTON (Special) — Sandra Gaye Castleberry of West Monroe, an office administration major, was one of three graduates receiving the summa cum laude distinction, the highest highest honor possible, at Louisiana Tech commencement exercises Thursday night.

She received the honor along with Elizabeth Ann Barnard of Homer, a home economics major, and James Kenneth Boyer of Vivian, a mathematics major.

Those awarded magna cum laude included these are students:

John Taylor Bentley of Bastrop; electrical engineering and business administration; Beverly Blackmon Guthrie of Monroe, elementary education; Julia Smith Watson of Holly Ridge, mathematics.

Cum laude recipients from this area were: Joan Barham Jacks of Dubach, business administration; David Earl Nunn of Quitman, liberal arts; Judy Ann Phillips of Haynesville, medical technology; and Alice Marie Powers of Baskin, education.

D'Arbonne Lake Will Be Lowered

FARMERVILLE (Special) — D'Arbonne Lake Commission members recently met with Louisiana biologists to discuss the lowering of the lake this year.

State biologists agreed that in order to control weed and moss growth and to stimulate fish growth, it will be necessary to lower the level of the lake some five feet, beginning soon after Labor Day.

Dec. 15 was the suggested date for allowing the lake to begin filling to the 80-foot level again. The biologists explained that if the lake is not lowered, the moss and weeds could be four times as thick as during the past year.

The Lake Commission has taken no official action on the matter, but has taken under advisement the reports of the biologists.

Visiting biologists included Harry Schafer, supervisor of the State Fisheries Department; Bobby Walker, Lloyd Posey Jr., Cliff Williams, Jerry Farrar, Jake Yelverton, Kenneth Lantz, Charles Hoenke, Dudley Carver and Guthrie Ferry.

New Officials Conference Is Scheduled

RUSTON (Special) — A conference for newly-elected officials of state municipalities has been announced for Sept. 1-3, according to Ruston Mayor John Perritt, president of the sponsoring Louisiana Municipal Association.

Mayor Perritt was in Baton Rouge early this week for a meeting to organize the conference, which will include all phases of municipal government, discussed by persons with years of experience, who have made intensive studies of municipal affairs.

Subjects to be covered include sources of municipal revenue, budgets, capital improvement financing, the council meeting, planning and zoning, federal assistance programs and utilities management.

In encouraging attendance, Mayor Perritt said, "My first contact with LMA was just after being elected mayor in 1962 surrounded by a crowd of Negroes on a traffic violation. The crowd was dispersed by other policemen called to the scene. SNCC Chairman Stokely Carmichael was in the crowd."

Peace Groups Mark Hiroshima Bombing

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Peace groups Friday mapped demonstrations around the nation, including the wedding of Luci Baines Johnson, today to commemorate the 21st anniversary of the atomic bombing of Hiroshima.

Two groups said they would protest at the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington during the marriage of the President's daughter with Patrick Nugent.

Negro Group Shies From Black Power

ATLANTA (UPI)—A group of influential Atlanta Negroes Friday issued a statement pledging their support of law and order in the civil rights movement, thus backing away from a direct conflict with militant civil rights groups.

The statement was considered a denunciation of the militant Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and its "black power" philosophy, but it carefully avoided any mention of SNCC or black power. Most observers had speculated the statement would be much stronger.

The Atlanta branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People issued a slightly stronger statement at the same time, but it too avoided a direct conflict with SNCC.

The Rev. Samuel Williams, president of the Atlanta NAACP and spokesman for the group called the Atlanta Summit Leadership Conference, also avoided newsmen's questions whether the statement was aimed at SNCC.

"We're talking about anyone who advocates violence and opposition to law processes," was his only answer.

A group of about 10 SNCC members sat to one side at a news conference held at Friendship Baptist Church on the edge of some of Atlanta's worst slums, and Williams passed over several questions asked by SNCC members, who earlier had passed out literature alleging several incidents of what they call "police brutality" in Atlanta.

The two statements issued Friday were another move in the widening rift between the more moderate elements of the civil rights movement and the black power advocates, SNCC and the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

The Summit Leadership Conference statement said the conference was "disturbed" that there appear to be elements in the city which do not have the total welfare of the groups which they appear to represent.

"We do not feel that violence or the breaking of laws is useful in helping us to achieve the complete human equality for which we work and for which we will continue to diligently strive."

"We pledge our strong cooperation with all the forces of law and order," the statement said.

"As citizens who live here and who are determined to make Atlanta a more just city," the NAACP statement read, "we pledge our support to law and order. We call for wisdom and calmness on the part of all the police and the people alike."

Atlanta, though imperfect, is too good to be destroyed by rashness, no matter from what quarter."

The statement also said, "We do not believe that one wrong can be made right by committing another wrong. The way of violence, no matter by whom perpetrated, is wrong and it creates more problems than it solves."

Violence almost erupted in a Negro slum section earlier in the week when a crowd of Negroes on a traffic violation. The crowd was dispersed by other policemen called to the scene. SNCC Chairman Stokely Carmichael was in the crowd."

One of the groups, the Student Non Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) charged that President Johnson picked the Aug. 6 wedding date in order to divert attention from the antiwar demonstrations which have become traditional on the anniversary of Hiroshima.

Although Hiroshima demonstrations have generally been opposed to war in general, this year's centered on the war in Viet Nam. There were also overtones of the civil rights controversy as leaders of militant Negro groups, such as SNCC and the Black Panther movement, took part.

Most of the demonstrations planned for Friday night and today were under the sponsorship of the Madison based National Coordinating Committee to end the war in Viet Nam (NCC), a clearing-house organization of antiwar groups. A two-hour "silent vigil" outside the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception was among the NCC plans for today.

Jesse Favors, a member of the Black Panther group, was slated to be one of the speakers at an NCC rally on the University of Wisconsin campus tonight.

Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke said authorities would keep a close eye on anti-Viet Nam war demonstrations in Roxbury, Mass., today to guard against the possibility of racial violence.

The state adjutant general said 3,000 National Guardsmen would be "ready for anything that might happen." Brooke had met earlier with law enforcement officials to report on rumors of gun-smuggling into the predominantly Negro community. Roxbury civil leaders called Brooke's statements "foolhardy in the extreme."

Other demonstrations were planned at Madison, Chicago, New York, Niagara Falls, N.Y., Blaine, Wash., the Atomic Energy site at Los Alamos, N.M., Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Dayton, Ohio, Louisville, Los Angeles, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, New Orleans, Philadelphia, Phoenix, San Francisco, and Wilmington, Ohio.

Some of the demonstrations were directed at firms making napalm for use in Viet Nam, such as the Dow Chemical Co. in New York.

Washington police said they had received no specific orders on how to handle the wedding pickets. A spokesman said plans depended on how many demonstrators showed up and what they did. He said police "must protect the public as well as the President."

SNCC went ahead with its plans to picket the wedding despite a telegram from Negro leaders Martin Luther King, Roy Wilkins, Whitney Young and O. Phillip Randolph that they refrain.

SNCC replied in a statement, "Gentlemen, we believe it took some nerve in sending that telegram. You have displayed more backbone in defending Luci B. Johnson than you have displayed for millions of black people brutalized every day in this country."

Monroe Girl Is Recovering

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — A four-year-old Monroe girl was reported to be in satisfactory condition at the Crossett Health Center here Friday night after having her right leg amputated following an accident.

Sharon Marie Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hayward Ward, 1403 S. 7th St., Monroe, had her leg amputated four inches below her knee after her ankle became badly mangled by a power mower Thursday afternoon.

She was reportedly riding the mower with her brother when she fell off of the mower and caught her foot in the blade.

She was visiting at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Sue Pitchford, when the mishap occurred.

Nathan Ragland

LAKE CHARLES (Special) — Funeral services for Nathan D. Ragland, 58, of Lake Charles, former resident and brother of Ouachita Parish Veterans Service Officer Fred E. Ragland, will be today at 10 a.m. at Hixson Brothers Funeral Home here with the Rev. Charles McIlvaine officiating. Burial will be in Prien Memorial Park Cemetery.

Mr. Ragland died Thursday night at Lake Charles Memorial Hospital after a long illness. While a resident of Monroe, Mr. Ragland was employed by the Missouri-Pacific Railroad. He was a retired railroad engineer with the company at the time of his death. He was a member of Masonic Lodge No. 598 at Alexandria and of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers.

Other survivors include his widow, Mrs. Elva Mae Martin Ragland of Lake Charles; a daughter, Mrs. Martha Vallee of Kinder; and two sisters, Mrs. Edna Shaughnessy of Monroe and Mrs. Sarah O'Reilly of San Francisco, Calif.

R. H. McClanahan

R. H. McClanahan, a former resident of Monroe, died at his residence in Houston, Tex., early Friday.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete Friday night at Hixson Brothers Funeral Home of Monroe. Burial will be in Monroe.

M. V. Strother

LAKE CHARLES (Special) — Marvin Vernon Strother Sr., 70, of Lake Charles and father of Wayne Strother of Monroe, died early Friday morning at his home after an apparent heart attack.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete Friday evening but services will be here.

Mr. Strother is also survived by his widow, Mrs. Edith Strother of Lake Charles; two other sons, Marvin V. Strother Jr. of Alexandria and Billy Ray Strother of Lafayette; two daughters, Mrs. Elzie Clark of Baton Rouge and Mrs. Nat Biggs of Golden, Colo.; and 15 grandchildren.

Mrs. Hetezler

Mrs. Nora Freeman Hetezler, a former resident of Monroe, died early Friday morning at her residence in Tiptonville, Tenn., where she had resided for the past 14 years.

She was a member of the First Christian Church of Monroe and the Louise L. McGuire Chapter of the Eastern Star.

Funeral services will be at the Peters Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. Abe Carter officiating. Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Thelma Stewart, Tiptonville; and one brother, John Freeman, Monroe; and one grandchild.

Pallbearers will be F. W. Bayles, Thomas F. Easterling, S. W. Raby, J. M. Smith, John Varner and E. M. Wooten.

Mrs. Alma Ward

Mrs. Alma E. Ward, 53, of Eros, died Friday afternoon in St. Francis Hospital after a short illness.

Mrs. Ward was native of Calhoun, and member of the United Pentecostal Church of Eros.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Sunday at the United Pentecostal Church with the Rev. Harold Donaldson officiating, assisted by the Rev. R. E. Nolan.

Burial will be in Frantom Chapel Cemetery of Eros, under direction of Kilpatrick Funeral Home of West Monroe.

Distinction Is Achieved By Local Girl

RUSTON (Special) — Sandra Gaye Castleberry of West Monroe, an office administration major, was one of three graduates receiving the summa cum laude distinction, the highest honor possible, at Louisiana Tech commencement exercises Thursday night.

She received the honor along with Elizabeth Ann Barnard of Homer, a home economics major, and James Kenneth Boyter of Vivian, a mathematics major.

Those awarded magna cum laude included these are students:

John Taylor Bentley of Bastrop; electrical engineering and business administration; Beverly Blackmon Guthrie of Monroe, elementary education; Julia Smith Watson of Holly Ridge, mathematics.

Cum laude recipients from this area were:

Joan Barham Jacks of Dubach, business administration; David Earl Nunn of Quitman, liberal arts; Judy Ann Phillips of Haynesville, medical technology; and Alice Marie Powers of Baskin, education.

D'Arbonne Lake Will Be Lowered

FARMERVILLE (Special) — D'Arbonne Lake Commission members recently met with Louisiana biologists to discuss the lowering of the lake this year.

State biologists agreed that in order to control weed and moss growth and to stimulate fish growth, it will be necessary to lower the level of the lake some five feet, beginning soon after Labor Day.

Dec. 15 was the suggested date for allowing the lake to begin filling to the 80-foot level again. The biologists explained that if the lake is not lowered, the moss and weeds could be four times as thick as during the past year.

The Lake Commission has taken no official action on the matter, but has taken under advisement the reports of the biologists.

Visiting biologists included Harry Schaefer, supervisor of the State Fisheries Department; Bobby Walker, Lloyd Posey Jr., Cliff Williams, Jerry Farrar, Jake Yelverton, Kenneth Lantz, Charles Hoenke, Dudley Carver and Guthrie Perry.

New Officials Conference Is Scheduled

RUSTON (Special) — A conference for newly-elected officials of state municipalities has been announced for Sept. 1-3, according to Ruston Mayor John Perritt, president of the sponsoring Louisiana Municipal Association.

Mayor Perritt was in Baton Rouge early this week for a meeting to organize the conference, which will include all phases of municipal government, discussed by persons with years of experience, who have made intensive studies of municipal affairs.

Subjects to be covered include sources of municipal revenue, budgets, capital improvement financing, the council meeting, planning and zoning, federal assistance programs and utilities management.

In encouraging attendance, Mayor Perritt said, "My first contact with LMA was just after being elected mayor in 1962 at the LMA conference for newly elected officials. I got more helpful information about how to do my job at that conference than from any other single source."

The crowd was dispersed by other policemen called to the scene. SNCC Chairman Stokely Carmichael was in the crowd.

If you have a question you want answered, write or call "Mr. Editor, Tell Me, Please" at the Morning World and News-Star. We'll be glad to get the information and pass it on to you each Saturday in this column.

I am very interested in obtaining information from various airlines. Could you give me the addresses of the following: Braniff, American, United, Delta, TWA, Pan American and Eastern?

Here are the addresses: Braniff Airlines, Exchange Park, Dallas, Texas; American Airlines, 633 Third Avenue, New York, N.Y.; United Airlines, P.O. Box 8800, Chicago, Ill.; TWA, 605 Third Avenue, New York, N.Y.; Pan American Airlines, Pan Am Building, New York, N.Y.; and Eastern Airlines, 10 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N.Y.

If I buy some land and the owner reserves all mineral rights or one-half mineral rights, how long can he hold these mineral rights under Louisiana law?

The limit under Louisiana law is 10 years, according to the parish assessor's office.

If an only child is left or inherits building and land costs, does he have to pay inheritance tax and if so how much?

Yes, a person would have to pay inheritance tax, although there is an exemption up to $5,000. He must pay a fee if the estate is valued under this amount. Inheritance tax is fixed as to the valuation of the assets of the estate, according to the parish tax collector's office.

What is the address of NBC-TV's Summer Music Hall?

You may address John Davidson, Kraft Summer Theater, Care of: National Broadcasting Company, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York City, N.Y.

The John Davidson Show is the summer replacement for Perry Como's Music Hall.

Numerous times while driving on Layton Ave. traveling east in the left lane of traffic approaching the I-20 Approach at Hall St., a car from the right lane will make a left turn onto Hall St., or left into the I-20 approach ramps. Often an accident nearly occurs. Is this an accepted traffic procedure at this location?

Monroe Police Chief James C. Kelly Jr., said the intersection was currently under study, and that findings may lead to further markings and/or directional signals.

It is my understanding that various municipal pension funds have their monies exclusively in bonds. Is this so, why? Is there a plan on foot to remedy this?

Pension funds have their own boards for administering them and which make the decisions on investments within the framework of existing state law. Law spells out the type of investments which may be made. In general, solid collateral is the determining factor and most funds are limited to government securities, though some invest in building and loan banks and other areas, permitted under law. Often the limitations mean less money, but security is a leading consideration, pension fund spokesmen point out. Investment in mutual funds and common stock, by the nature of the pension fund, usually is not permitted. At a time when liquidation might be needed, the market level of such issues might be low.

Where can you write to get a proof of your birth? I wrote the Bureau of the Census in Kansas over a year ago in March, but I got an answer saying they could not find a record. My birth date is Sept. 25, 1901.

The questioner should write the Federal Census Bureau in Washington, D.C. or your State Department of Health.

Which are the proper authorities to contact about a rat-infested area and an open garbage bin in the middle of a commercial area on the Monroe north side? City officials say the condition should be reported, insofar as the open garbage bin is concerned, to the Monroe Sanitation Department and to its manager.

Arthur Barker, at 323-9977. As to the rats, elimination of the uncovered garbage condition should solve the problem of their presence.

A year or two ago, pumps were purchased to pump water from Bayou Bartholomew into Dead Bayou and an opening made to run it into Bayou Desiard. Since Desiard seems to be below the level announced it would be kept, why aren't the pumps running?

Spokesmen for the Louisiana Public Works Department maintain both pumps have indeed been running, though one now is off while a bearing problem is corrected. The other pump is in operation. Efforts are made to maintain a 71 foot (sea level) in Bayou Desiard, so the pump is running to raise that level from its present 70.4 feet. However, from 70 to 71 feet is considered normal and it has been maintained at the level generally. Work on the pump is being done by the manufacturer, though the pumps are operated by personnel of the Monroe Utilities Commission. They work through a water district board of citizens from Ouachita and Morehouse Parishes.

Planters and farmers along Bayou Desiard are pumping water out of the city's water supply around the clock for irrigation purposes. Is there a fee or gal-lonage charge for this water?

Officials cite no legal objection to the pumping. Though the bayou is the city's water supply the city does not own it or control the uses of its water. Farmers, therefore, have as much right to the water as the city.

How many teachers have left Drew Elementary School and West Monroe High School since May? What percentage have resigned or transferred from both schools?

The Ouachita Parish School Board office reports that eight teachers have left Drew Elementary, which constitutes 75 per cent of the faculty. From West Monroe High, "seven or eight" are leaving, representing seven or eight per cent of a staff of approximately 80 teachers, which is no more than a normal turnover.

Whom can a person contact when the person took the test they give in West Monroe for a high school certificate? She took this test over four weeks ago and has never gotten any reply of any kind.

The question does not include particulars necessary to supply a complete answer, but the assumption is made that the test was taken at the Ouachita Valley Vocational Technical School since West Monroe is mentioned. The school should be contacted. If the test was not taken at the vocational school, the person should contact the Testing Bureau at Northeast Louisiana State College. It is assumed that the Ouachita Parish adult education program is not involved, since it is not in session this summer.

Is it illegal for people to raise chickens and other poultry in the city limits? Is there someone going around to check and see?

Legal officers say there is an ordinance against keeping certain types of animals, but that it does not cover chickens and other poultry. For example, hogs are prohibited altogether, while horses, mules or cows require permission from the health department (which is not ordinarily given). Chickens apparently are permissible. However, if unsanitary conditions exist in connection with the chickens, the Ouachita Health Unit has authority to correct them.

What is John Wayne's real name? Has he ever been in the armed service?

The movie actor's real name is Marion Michael Morrison. He is 59 years old and was the son of a Winter-set, Iowa druggist who moved to California. You may write him at 4750 Louise Ave., Encino, Calif.

Did a recent law pass which says a person can now live in the city for one year and be qualified for old age assistance?

No such law for the Department of Public Welfare's Old Age Pension has been passed. One must have resided in the state of Louisiana for five years out of the past nine before he is eligible to receive the pension. There is no rule about the city in which a person

Orientation

For Students

At Camp Set

Thirty-five special education students from Louisiana state colleges and universities will arrive at Bistoneau State Park today for orientation classes prior to the opening Sunday of a camp for retarded children.

Among the students—who will serve as camp counselors for the children—will be 17 Northeast Louisiana State College students.

Murlon H. Dye, assistant professor of psychology at Northeast, will be camp director. Connected with the NLSC Special Education Center, Dye has been associated with the camp for two years.

Approximately 100 retarded children from the state, 20 of which reside in the Northeast Louisiana area, will attend Camp Larcee at Lake Bistoneau, near Minden. The camp is an annual two-week session in which the children are closely supervised in activities including swimming, nature hikes, exploring, cook-outs, arts and crafts and special games.

Participation in the camp program will earn for the student counselors two hours of credit in their college curricula. Each counselor will attend lectures daily during the camp and will be assigned to two retarded children.

The camp will begin Sunday and run through Saturday, Aug. 20, for children ten years or older and in reasonably good physical health, Dye said.

Dye said, "This camp provides one of the few 'practical' opportunities for special education students. On the other hand, the youngsters are also given an opportunity to do things here which they cannot do at other times. For example, we have a specially-equipped pool for their swimming classes."

Dye said those wishing further information concerning the camp should contact the Special Education Center at Northeast Louisiana State College, Box 415, Springhill.

Northeast students participating in the camp for the retarded children will include Mary Loretta Jones, Duell Coilly Smith, Sue Brelaud and Christy Shaw, all of Monroe; Ella Jane Martien of Waterport; Margaret Louise Gray of Hefflin; Cathy Citro and Mickey Sue Crowell, both of Eros; Rose White of Jonesville; Carolyn Lee Thompson of Calhoun; Lexie must reside before he is eligible for the benefits.

How many persons must work in a store before unemployment is paid? Who pays it?

Four or more persons must have worked in a firm for at least 20 weeks before unemployment is paid in. The employer makes these payments through the Louisiana Employment Service. No money is taken from the employer for this purpose.

Can you tell me what was the highest temperature for the summer of 1929?

No, we are unable to obtain that information, but would you believe the summer of 1925? That summer the mercury went up to 108 degrees, the highest reading of the decade in Monroe, as far as we could learn.

Can you tell me if a person is eligible for the military draft if one and a half joints of the first finger of his right hand (trigger finger) are missing?

No, he is not. However, when asked for an official draft board statement we were advised that such applications are referred to a medical advisor for acceptance or rejection.

What was the total cost in Ouachita Parish system for educational purposes during 1960? What was the range in school salaries for teachers in the parish in 1960?

The entire Ouachita Parish School System budget for the school year 1960-61 amounted to $5,837,458.38. During the same period, teacher salaries ranged from a low of $3,250 to a high of $6,000.

Court Acts

On Traffic

Violations

Driving violations dominated a session of West Monroe City Court Friday, presided over by Judge John McCormick.

George W. Reeves, 2701 Shannon Apt. 136, Monroe, was fined a total of $325 for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and reckless driving. James Lester Shively, Dodson, was fined a total of $375 on charges of DWI and reckless driving.

Dennis L. Hubbard, 111 McClendon St., West Monroe, was fined a total of $205 on four charges of simple battery. A charge of simple assault against Leon Johnson, 1206 N. 4th, West Monroe, was nolle prossed, while he was fined a total of $400 on charges of disturbing the peace and aggravated assault.

L. C. Mack, 1114 N. 7th St., West Monroe, and Arthur Lee Smith, 1020 N. 7th St., West Monroe, were fined $100 each on charges of engaging in a fist fight.

Wade Jester, 905 Arkansas Rd., West Monroe, was sentenced to 60 days in city jail for theft. Dudley Edwards, 2513 N. 8th, West Monroe, was sentenced to six months in jail for theft and fined $100 for criminal damage to property.

Harold Mack, 2505 Swiss St., West Monroe, was fined $100 on criminal damage to property and sentenced to six months in jail for theft. Willie Wright, 611 Riggs St., West Monroe, was fined $100 for theft.

James R. Crawford, 1011 S. 9th St., Monroe, was fined $25 for simple battery.

Persons fined for speeding included: Charles K. Fairzell, 800 McGuire St., Monroe, $15; James Ray Brooks, 1011 N. 3rd St., Monroe; John F. McMillan, Rt. 2, Box 281, West Monroe, $15; William E. Howard, Contempo Apts., West Monroe, $20; Larry W. Pankey, 2610 N. 10th St., West Monroe, $10; Glenda G. Lowery, 111 Lynette Dr., West Monroe, $15; and Ruth Sullivan, 105 Circle Dr., West Monroe, $15.

Persons fined for reckless driving included: Christine P. Poston, 213 Height St., West Monroe, $25; Richard Griffith, San Angelo, Tex., $25; Lonnie C. Church St., West Monroe, $20; and Leon Hodge Jr., 1512 Wallace St., Monroe, $25, and $50 for no drivers license.

Radio Theft

Is Reported

The theft of a two-way citizen's band radio from a car was reported to Monroe Police Friday afternoon by Mrs. J. D. Morrison, 311 Phillips St.

She told police that the radio was unbolts from the dash of her car which was parked at 1212 Louisville Ave. during the day. The value of the radio was said to be $130.

A car, owned by the Hertz Rent A Car Agency, Monroe, which was reported stolen July 14, was recovered Thursday in Dallas, Tex., Monroe police reported Friday. The car was found abandoned on a street, police said.

John Jill, 54, of 1008 Louise Anne, was booked by Monroe police Friday for shoplifting. He was apprehended at the Seven-Eleven Food Store on Orange Street.

West Monroe police booked Roy Tullos of Rt. 4, West Monroe, Friday, for violation of city ordinance against maintaining unattended refrigerators without inside control for locks or not having locks removed, police reported.

Authorities reported that approximately 15 such refrigerators were located at Roy's Trading Post No. 2, at 3013 Cypress St., West Monroe, which is operated by Tullos. West Monroe Police Chief Johnny Mitchell said Tullos had previously been warned of the violation.

Prince Phillips, 35, of South Fourth Street, Monroe, was booked at 8:45 p.m. by West Monroe police for simple battery. He was arrested at 605 Austin St., West Monroe.

Mr. Editor...

Tell Me, Please

If you have a question you want answered, write or call "Mr. Editor, Tell Me, Please" at the Morning World and News-Star. We'll be glad to get the information and pass it on to you each Saturday in this column.

I am very interested in obtaining information from various airlines. Could you give me the addresses of the following: Braniff, America, United, Delta, TWA, Pan American and Eastern?

Here are the addresses: Braniff Airlines, Exchange Park, Dallas, Texas; American Airlines, 633 Third Avenue, New York, N.Y.; United Airlines, P.O. Box 8800, Chicago, Ill.; TWA, 605 Third Avenue, New York, N.Y.; Pan American Airlines, Pan Am Building, New York, N.Y., and Eastern Airlines, 10 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N.Y.

If I buy some land and the owner reserves all mineral rights or one-half mineral rights, how long can he hold these mineral rights under Louisiana law?

The limit under Louisiana law is 10 years, according to the parish assessor's office.

If an only child is left or inherits building and land stock, does he have to pay inheritance tax and if so how much?

Yes, a person would have to pay inheritance tax, although there is an exemption up to $5,000. He must pay a fee if the estate is valued under this amount. Inheritance tax is fixed as to the valuation of the assets of the estate, according to the parish tax collector's office.

What is the address of NBC-TV's Summer Music Hall.

You may address John Davidson, Kraft Summer Theater, Care of: National Broadcasting Company, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York City, N.Y.

The John Davidson Show is the summer replacement for Perry Como's Music Hall.

Numerous times while driving on Layton Ave. traveling east in the left lane of traffic approaching the I-20 approach at Hall St., a car from the right lane will make a left turn onto Hall St., or left into the I-20 approach ramps. Often an accident nearly occurs. Is this an accepted traffic procedure at this location?

Monroe Police Chief James C. Kelly Jr., said the intersection was "currently under study, and that findings may lead to further markings and/or directional signals."

It is my understanding that various municipal pension funds have their monies exclusively in bonds. If this is so, why? Is there a plan on foot to remedy this?

Pension funds have their own boards for administering them and which make the decisions on investments within the framework of existing state law. Law spells out the type of investments which may be made. In general, solid collateral is the determining factor and most funds are limited to government securities, though some invest in building and loan banks and other areas, permitted under law. Often the limitations mean less money, but security is a leading consideration, pension fund spokesmen point out. Investment in mutual funds and common stock, by the nature of the pension fund, usually is not permitted. At a time when liquidation might be needed, the market level of such issues might be low.

Where can you write to get a proof of your birth? I wrote the Bureau of the Census in Kansas over a year ago in March, but I got an answer saying they could not find a record. My birth date is Sept. 25, 1901.

The questioner should write the Federal Census Bureau in Washington, D.C. or your State Department of Health.

Which are the proper authorities to contact about a rat-infested area and an open garbage bin in the middle of a commercial area on the Monroe north side?

City officials say the condition should be reported, insofar as the open garbage bin is concerned, to the Monroe Sanitation Department and to its manager,

Arthur Barker, at 323-9977. As to the rats, elimination of the uncovered garbage condition should solve the problem of their presence.

A year or two ago, pumps were purchased to pump water from Bayou Bartholomew into Dead Bayou and an opening made to run it into Bayou DeSiard. Since DeSiard seems to be below the level announced it would be kept, why aren't the pumps running?

Spokesmen for the Louisiana Public Works Department have indeed been running, though one now is off while a bearing problem is corrected. The other pump is in operation. Efforts are made to maintain a 71 foot (sea level) in Bayou DeSiard, so the pump is running to raise that level from its present 70.4 feet. However, from 70 to 71 feet is considered normal and it has been maintained at the level generally. Work on the pump is being done by the manufacturer, though the pumps are operated by personnel of the Monroe Utilities Commission. They work through a water district board of citizens from Ouachita and Morehouse Parishes.

Planters and farmers along Bayou DeSiard are pumping water out of the city's water supply around the clock for irrigation purposes. Is there a fee or gal-lonage charge for this water?

Officials cite no legal objection to the pumping. Though the bayou is the city's water supply the city does not own it or control the uses of its water. Farmers, therefore, have as much right to the water as the city.

How many teachers have left Drew Elementary School and West Monroe High School since May? What percentage have resigned or transferred from both schools?

The Ouachita Parish School Board office reports that eight teachers have left Drew Elementary, which constitutes 75 per cent of the faculty. From West Monroe High, "seven or eight" are leaving, representing seven or eight per cent of a staff of approximately 80 teachers, which is no more than a normal turnover.

Whom can a person contact when the person took the test they give in West Monroe for a high school certificate? She took this test over four weeks ago and has never gotten any reply of any kind.

The question does not include particulars necessary to supply a complete answer, but the assumption is made that the test was taken at the Ouachita Valley Vocational-Technical School since West Monroe is mentioned. The school should be contacted. If the test was not taken at the vocational school, the person should contact the Testing Bureau at Northeast Louisiana State College. It is assumed that the Ouachita Parish adult education program is not involved, since it is not in session this summer.

Is it illegal for people to raise chickens and other poultry in the city limits? Is there someone going around to check and see?

Legal officers say there is an ordinance against keeping certain types of animals, but that it does not cover chickens and other poultry. For example, hogs are prohibited altogether, while horses, mules or cows require permission from the health department (which is not ordinarily given). Chickens apparently are permissible. However, if unsanitary conditions exist in connection with the chickens, the Ouachita Health Unit has authority to correct them.

What is John Wayne's real name? Has he ever been in the armed service?

The movie actor's real name is Marion Michael Morrison. He is 59 years old and was the son of a Winter-set, Iowa druggist who moved to California. You may write him at 4750 Louise Ave., Encino, Calif.

Did a recent law pass which says a person can now live in the city for one year and be qualified for old age assistance?

No such law for the Department of Public Welfare's Old Age Pension has been passed. One must have resided in the state of Louisiana for five years out of the past nine before he is eligible to receive the pension. There is no rule about the city in which a person

Court Orders Redistricting For Missouri

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A three-judge federal court panel Friday ordered the Missouri General Assembly to redistrict the U.S. congressional district in accordance with the Supreme Court's historic one-man, one-vote decision.

The order said if the legislature does not act by the time of the congressional elections of 1968 the candidates will have to run at large.

The order was filed by Judges John W. Oliver, William M. Collinson, of the U.S. District Court for western Missouri and Judge M. C. Matthews of the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals.

Dr. Peter J. Steincrohn

Weight Proves To Be Major Problem

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Help! I was trying to cover my defect, am 5 feet 9, a large-boned girl. I was married and in my early twenties when I determined to do something about it. Our family doctor sent me to a plastic surgeon who was said to be one of the best. He proved it by me!

My only regret was that I hadn't had this done years before. It was not a difficult operation. I was in the hospital over this I am tired, irritable and cranky. And most of all, hungry!

I'm now 19. Will I have to spend the rest of my life like this? I look much better at 150 pounds, my measurements have improved, but I feel rotten. Vitamins don't seem to help.

Should I regain the lost weight? Please answer before I go crazy! — Miss M.

Comment: I could go into the philosophy of dieting and the trials and tribulations undergone by the unhappy dieters who face each cheerless day with nothing but restrictions. But you and most other readers have heard it all before. It's old hat.

Nevertheless, no matter how often a truth is repeated, no matter how sick and tired you may become at hearing it again, it is right if it is truth.

And here it is for you, Miss M. and others. Some people have to be careful of their calorie intake for the rest of their lives. Others, after they lose, find that they can keep their weight down more easily than they did in the past.

But what is most important is the timeless truth: you won't lose and stay down unless you have sufficient motivation. You must want to lose more than anything else in the world. Believe this, Miss M. and you won't go crazy.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have a small weight problem and I am wondering whether you would advise me regarding the use of belt massage machines. Is there anything I should know before investing in one? — Mrs. V.

Comment: Massage, properly applied, is beneficial in keeping up body tone. However, I would not invest in such a machine until after you have lost and proved you could keep your new weight for at least a few months. Machines are no short cut to the actual reducing process.

PLASTIC SURGERY

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: The appeal from Mr. J. about his ears moved me to write to you as it brought back the complex that I suffered in my youth. I was born with "elephant ears" way back in 1915. At that time my mother was advised to keep a snug cap on my head; also to tape my ears back against my head.

Being a girl, I guess few people realized the defect, but I was always conscious of it. I couldn't wear my hair as the other girls could. As I grew older I affected scarfs, and turbans. Although I was constantly told that I was pretty, even a beautiful girl, I suffered a terrific inferiority feeling all

Weight Proves To Be Major Problem

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Help! I am 5 feet 9, a large-boned girl. With the help of diet pills and a special diet I have gone from 170 to 150 pounds.

My problem is how to stay at 150. Every time I start eating a normal diet (you know, three meals a day with no snacks in between, and I eat in a cafeteria where there are no seconds) my weight shoots back up. On top of this I am tired, irritable and cranky. And most of all, hungry!

I'm now 19. Will I have to spend the rest of my life like this? I look much better at 150 pounds, my measurements have improved, but I feel rotten. Vitamins don't seem to help.

Should I regain the lost weight? Please answer before I go crazy! — Miss M.

Comment: I could go into the philosophy of dieting and the trials and tribulations undergone by the unhappy dieters who face each cheerless day with nothing but restrictions. But you and most other readers have heard it all before. It's old hat.

Nevertheless, no matter how often a truth is repeated, no matter how sick and tired you may become at hearing it again, it is right if it is truth.

And here it is for you, Miss M. and others. Some people have to be careful of their caloric intake for the rest of their lives. Others, after they lose, find that they can keep their weight down more easily than they did in the past.

But what is most important is the tiresome truth: you won't lose and stay down unless you have sufficient motivation. You must want to lose more than anything else in the world. Believe this, Miss M. and you won't go crazy.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have a small weight problem and I am wondering whether you would advise me regarding the use of belt massage machines. Is there anything I should know before investing in one? — Mrs. V.

Court Orders Redistricting For Missouri

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A three-judge federal court panel Friday ordered the Missouri General Assembly to redistrict the U.S. congressional district in accordance with the Supreme Court's historic one-man, one-vote decision.

The order said if the legislature does not act by the time of the congressional elections of 1968 the candidates will have to run at large.

The order was filed by Judges John W. Oliver, William M. Collinson, of the U.S. District Court for western Missouri and Judge M. C. Matthews of the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals.

Markets In Brief

Grain Future Prices Firm; Trade Slow
CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures prices were a little firmer in spots but trade generally was slow and largely speculative in the early afternoon.

Despite a private crop report which some analysts called bearish for wheat, most contracts of that grain attracted fairly active support at times on the leadership of a commercial account. Old crop soybeans also added to gains of the past few days but the market otherwise was little changed.

Brokers called the crop report mildly bullish for corn but of little influence either way in soybeans.

Wheat was 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents a bushel higher at the close, September $1.87, corn unchanged to 1/4 higher, September $1.43 1/4; oats 1/4 lower to 1/4 higher, September 72 1/2 cents; soybeans 1/4 to 1/2 higher, August $3.51 1/2.

Stock Market Ends Higher

In Third Straight Rally

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market finished higher Friday by a narrow margin, stretching its rally through the third straight session.

Trading quieted as some of the excitement on Wall Street was tempered by caution which always is heightened by the approach of a weekend when any change in the way of news can happen and the securities markets are closed.

Volume fell off to 5.5 million shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average ended with a gain of .89 at 852.39. At best, it was up 2.78 in the morning.

The market continued to be buoyed by the inflationary implications of the steel price increases and by growing conviction that the national Administration was not going to take any tough measures to counteract them. At the same time, the vigorous rise of the profit-taking opportunities for traders, and also afforded the chance for long-term investors to sell some stocks at better prices than have been available for some time.

At the same time, the Wall Street mood was dampened by reports that some airlines were suffering considerably from the strike. Airline stocks had a sinking spell. In fact, by the close there was not much strength in the over-all list, except for scattered blue chips and the generally higher trend prevailing among such groups as steels, rails, farm implements and mail orders.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index advanced.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .6 to 307.6 from 307.0.

Of 1,367 issues traded, 604 rose and 498 fell. New highs for the year totaled eight and new lows 71.

Among the 15 most active stocks, gainers and losers were even at seven each, with Sperry

Grain Future

Prices Firm; Trade Slow

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures prices were a little firmer in spots but trade generally was slow and largely speculative in the early afternoon.

Despite a private crop report which some analysts called bearish for wheat, most contracts of that grain attracted fairly active support at a commercial account. Old crop soybeans also added to gains of the past few days but the market otherwise was little changed.

Brokers called the crop report mildly bullish for corn but of little influence either way in soybeans.

Wheat was 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents a bushel higher at the close, September $1.87; corn unchanged to 1/4 higher, September $1.43 1/4; oats 1/4 lower to 1/4 higher, September 72 1/2 cents; rye 1/2 to 1 cent higher, September $1.29 1/4; soybeans 4 cents higher to 1/2 lower, August $3.51 1/2.

City's Walls

Bear Smears

OF SWASTIKAS

BRUSSELS (UPI)—Swastikas, Nazi SS signs, and anti-Semitic slogans were smeared on the walls of the Palais de Congress Friday where Germans and Jews discussed toward reconciliation at the World Jewish Congress.

Most of the slogans were in English: "Free Europe from Jewish people." Police said the smears, the only anti-Semitic incident at the congress now in its sixth day, probably were the work of an individual.

The congress was told Friday that despite a constitution guaranteeing full protection for minorities, Jews in the Soviet Union still suffer from discrimination.

"The constitution is not enough," said Dr. M. L. Perlmutter, international affairs director of the congress. "What is needed is machinery to implement."

Meanwhile, it was announced that 20 members of the American Jewish Congress have been invited to make a three-week study of Jewish communities behind the Iron Curtain.

The American delegation, headed by executive director Will Maslow, will visit Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria, and Yugoslavia. No visit to Russia is planned.

Cotton Mart

Stays Same; Prices $2.50 Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed unchanged to 1/50 a bale higher Friday.

There was activity in the July and distant December contracts, prior to the first government estimate of 1966 cotton crop next Monday. Traders looked for a report between 10,000,000 and 11,000,000 bales. This contrasted with the actual 1965 crop of 14,956,000 bales.

Green Bay Smashes All-Stars

DONNY ANDERSON (44) of Texas Tech, All-Stars back, picks up short gain against Green Bay Packers in first period of game Friday night. Others include John Riland (66) of Iowa, and Pat Killoran (58) of Syracuse, and Packers' Ron Kostelnik (77), Dave Robinson (89) and Willie Davis (87).

Starr, Hornung, Taylor Lead Packers 38-0 Win

CHICAGO (AP) — The irresistible Green Bay Packers powered by the deadly passing of Bart Starr and the running of Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor, crushed the College All-Stars 38-0 Friday night.

Hornung set up one touchdown with a drive to the one, Taylor scored two and Starr passed for two others. The lopsided score matched the biggest previous shutout in the series.

A crowd of 72,000 in Soldier Field saw the 33rd annual game in perfect weather.

Scuffles between opposing players were frequent and it seemed apparent that the Pack-

Dixie Boys Title Goes To Bossier

SPRINGHILL, Tenn. (AP) — Bossier did it the hard way, but won the right to a berth in the Hattiesburg, Miss., National Dixie Boys Tournament. The Bossier crew stopped the previously undefeated Richland Parish team twice here Friday night to win the crown in the State Tournament.

Bossier will be the defending champion at the Mississippi tourney. In the first game, Bossier City took advantage of the ten run rule by jumping off to a 15-5 lead after five innings when the game was called. Bossier cracked out 15 hits in that game, which was won by Randy Walker.

Robert Ross had two homers and two singles and David Eumers had a single and two singles to pace Bossier to the first win. The nightcap was closer, with Bossier taking a 9-7 decision. David Hudson was credited with the victory and Barthel, who fanned 12, was charged with the loss.

Hudson homered to lead Bossier and Oliver Douglas has a homer for Richland in the final game.

Famosa Gets Ski Victory In Portillo

PORTILLO, Chile (AP) — Anne Famosa, a diminutive veteran of the French team, captured the women's slalom, opening race in the 1966 World Alpine Ski Championships Friday.

The four American competitors finished among the top eight. Miss Famosa zipped through the two courses in 90.48 seconds and 90.95 seconds, and 16-year-old Penny McCoy of Bishop, Calif., was third in 92.35.

Jean Saubert of McCall, Idaho, placed fourth. Cathy Allen of San Pedro, Calif., fifth and her sister, Wendy, eighth in the field of 44 athletes from 11 nations.

Miss Saubert's combined time for the two heats was 92.77 seconds. Cathy Allen finished in 92.72 seconds and Wendy in 93.44. Cathy Allen had the best time among the Americans in the first heat, 46.58 seconds, which put her in fourth place.

Koufax Fires 18th Win, Downs Astros

HOUSTON (AP) — Sandy Koufax breezed to his 18th win Friday night as the Los Angeles Dodgers exploded for 18 hits and battered the hapless Houston Astros 12-1 before 46,555 fans.

In becoming the first major league pitcher to reach the 18 victory plateau, Koufax fanned 12 and allowed five hits in six innings before retiring in favor of Bob Miller. There wasn't anything wrong with Koufax.

It was the 93rd time in the left-hander's career that he has fanned 12 or more batters in a game, and he sent his major league leading streakout total to 220.

The only run off Koufax, who has lost five, was Dave Nicholson's homer in the second inning.

John Roseboro, with three singles and three runs batted in, Ron Farley, breaking a protracted slump with two doubles and a single, and rookie Jim Barber, with a double and two singles, led the Dodgers assault on five Astro pitchers.

The Astros All-Star second baseman, Joe Morgan, made his first appearance since June 25 as a pinch-hitter and walked. He had been out with a fractured knee cap.

The Dodgers jumped on starter Bob Bruce for four runs — only one of them earned — in the first and drove him out with two more hits and a walk with none out in the second.

The Canadian women's team of Elaine Tanner, Jane Hughes, Louise Kennedy, and Marion Lay bettered the old 440-yard mark of 4:11, held by Australia.

Australia was second in the event Friday night, first final for the 1,400 athletes from 36 nations who are competing in this little Olympics. England took the bronze medal.

Miss Tanner put Canada into a slight lead on the first leg but then Jenny Steinbeck took over and sent Australia ahead.

By the start of the third leg, Canada and Australia were neck and neck and this was the position until the final length when Marian Lay and Lyn Bell fared together.

World Marks Are Toppled By Swimmers

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Australian and Canadian swimmers broke three world records Friday night in the opening events of the British Empire and Commonwealth Games.

The Australian team of Michael Wenden, Peter Reynolds, David Dixon and Bob Winkle set a world mark of 8:07.3 in the 800-yard men's freestyle relay, with Wenden also cracking the world mark for 220 yards.

He was timed in 1:57.4, a record. It is allowed for consideration as a world mark, even though it was registered in a relay, because it was the first leg of the event.

The Canadian women's team of Elaine Tanner, Jane Hughes, Louise Kennedy and Marion Lay bettered the old 440-yard mark of 4:11, held by Australia.

Australia was second in the event Friday night, first final for the 1,400 athletes from 36 nations who are competing in this little Olympics. England took the bronze medal.

Miss Tanner put Canada into a slight lead on the first leg but then Jenny Steinbeck took over and sent Australia ahead.

By the start of the third leg, Canada and Australia were neck and neck and this was the position until the final length when Marian Lay and Lyn Bell turned together.

As the crowd rose to its feet Marian Lay managed to find that extra needed pace to touch a fraction ahead of the Australian girl. Australia was timed in 4:11.1.

Precious McKenzie of England established a games' record of 231 pounds in the bantamweight press in the weight lifting event, and several Games records were set in swimming heats.

Michael Wenden of Australia won his 100-yard freestyle heat in 54 seconds, Jill Slattery of England won her heat in the women's 220-yard breaststroke in 2:49.7, and Peter Reynolds of Australia won his heat of the men's 440-yard medley in 4:59.8. There were no major upsets but three important injuries in the early track events.

Starr, Hornung, Taylor Lead Packers 38-0 Win

CHICAGO (AP) — The irresistible Green Bay Packers powered by the deadly passing of Bart Starr and the running of Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor, crushed the College All-Stars 38-0 Friday night.

Hornung set up one touchdown with a drive to the one, Taylor scored two and Starr passed for two others. The lopsided score matched the biggest previous shutout in the series.

A crowd of 72,000 in Soldier Field saw the 33rd annual game in perfect weather.

Scuffles between opposing players were frequent and it seemed apparent that the Packers, National Football League champions, were bent on teaching the All-Stars, representing some $4 million in bonus money, a lesson in professional football. The Packers completely contained the rushes of Donny Anderson of Texas Tech and Jim Grabowski of Illinois. These two have been signed by the Packers reputedly for nearly $1 million.

The big forward wall of the Packers out-rushed the All-Stars and set up fumbles at critical junctures. Quarterback Steve Sloan of Alabama was forced into a fumble on a handoff at the start of the game, and the Packers recovered on the Stars' 33.

Taylor and Hornung together carried 23 yards and Starr passed to Boyd Dowler for the first touchdown of the game after only 3 minutes 17 seconds of play.

By halftime the Packers had run the count to 28-0 and held the collegians to two first downs.

Gary Lane of Missouri drew a mighty roar from the crowd in the third period when, back to pass, he couldn't find a receiver and instead scampered 57 yards to the Packers' six where he was hauled down by Herb Adeler.

But the Packers stiffened and took over on the 13.

Adeler had run 33 yards to score after intercepting a pass by Bill Anderson of Tulsa at the close of the second quarter.

The Packers have a Bill Anderson of their own, this one from Tennessee. He was on the receiving end of a 13 yard touchdown pass from Starr in the second period.

The other first half touchdown was scored by Taylor on a plunge of only one foot at the end of a march that started on the Packers 47 won Ron Kostelnik recovered an All-Star fumble by Anderson.

The victory sent the series to 22-9 in favor of the pros and marred the debut as All-Star coach of John Sauer, taking over from Otto Graham, now coach of the Washington Redskins.

A 17-yard field goal by Don Chandler and Taylor's 13-yard touchdown run made the score 38-0 in the third period.

Nick Rassas, Notre Dame defensive back, performed valiantly for the All-Stars, and Lane looked the best of the All-Star quarterbacks.

In the final period, Mike Garrett of Southern California, the Heisman Trophy winner, after taking a flat pass, was chased back toward his own goal 30 yards and fumbled, the Packers taking over on the All-Star 49.

The All-Stars held, however, and the Packers were forced to punt for the first time in the game.

The other 38 - 0 shutout was scored by the Philadelphia Eagles in 1949.

Mason Returns To Old Field

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Tommy Mason returns to the turf he starred on as a collegian to day night with the Minnesota Vikings, who'll play the Detroit Lions in a National Football League exhibition game.

Mason's last appearance as a player in Tulane Stadium—where the Viking-Lion game will be staged—was in 1960 as a senior for the Green Wave. In Tulane's final game, against Louisiana State, the Lake Charles native, scored one touchdown.

A few weeks later he was the No. 1 draft choice in the NFL and has risen to pro stardom. The threat of rain could put a damper on tonight's game but promoter Dave Dixon was counting on a crowd of about 40,000.

Pro Debut
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wayne Hardin, former head football coach at the U.S. Naval Academy, makes his debut as a professional coach tonight when his Philadelphia Bulldogs meet the Toronto Rifles in a Continental League exhibition game here.

The nightcap was closer, with Bossier taking a 9-7 decision. David Hudson was credited with the victory and Barthel, who fanned 12, was charged with the loss.

Hudson homered to lead Bossier and Oliver Douglas had a homer for Richland in the final game.

Famosa Gets Ski Victory In Portillo

PORTILLO, Chile (AP) — Annie Famosa, a diminutive veteran of the French team, captured the women's slalom, opening race in the 1966 World Alpine Ski Championship Friday. The four American competitors finished among the top eight.

Miss Famosa zipped through the two courses in 90.48 seconds. Marielle Goetsch, also of France, was second with a time of 90.95 seconds, and 16-year-old Penny McCoy of Bishop, Calif., was third in 92.35.

Jean Saubert of McCall, Idaho, placed fourth; Cathy Allen of San Pedro, Calif., fifth and her sister, Wendy, eighth in the field of 44 athletes from 11 nations.

Miss Saubert's combined time of the two heats was 92.37 seconds. Cathy Allen finished in 92.72 seconds and Wendy in 93.44. Cathy Allen had the best time among the Americans in the first heat, 46.58 seconds, which put her in fourth place.

"Our girls were just fantastic," said Chuck Ferries, the coach of the U.S. women's team. The Americans had made dismal showings in training races two weeks ago.

It was the final slalom race for Miss Saubert, who won silver medals for the slalom and the giant slalom in the 1964 Olympics at Innsbruck, Austria. "I believe I'm going to take a job teaching emotionally handicapped children," she said. "My performance was not too bad. But I am very proud of my teammates."

Coleman's Bat Gains Reds Win

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Gordy Coleman's homer in the sixth inning snapped a tie as the surging Cincinnati Reds edged the National League-leading Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 Friday night.

The victory was the Reds' sixth in a row and their 16th in the last 19 games. Coleman's blast, his third of the year, came off reliever Pete Mikkelsen. Pittsburgh starter Steve Blass left the game in the second inning after being hit on the pitching hand by a ball off Coleman's bat. He suffered a bone chip in his right thumb.

All-Star Week Signals Start Of Football Year

BATON ROUGE (AP) — All-star week in Baton Rouge, climaxed by Thursday night's football game which the East won 20-6, signals the beginning of the football season in Louisiana.

In 10 more days, Louisiana high schools will begin practicing for the fall campaign. It will be mid-December when state champions in the four prep classes are decided.

Here and there at the All-Star game and clinic:

In triple-A ranks, these teams were the most frequently mentioned as the ones to beat — not necessarily in this order — New Orleans Holy Cross, New Iberia, Shreveport Woodlawn, Chalmette, Shreveport Fair Park, West Jefferson, South Terrebonne of Houma, Sulphur, Lafayette, New Orleans St. Aloysius, Lee High of Baton Rouge and Istrouma High of Baton Rouge.

Coach Faize Mahfour of New Iberia picked up more stock this week when he landed Sammy Seefelt Jr., who was an all-state linebacker last year as a junior at Abbeville High. He will enroll at New Iberia for his senior season.

Sammy played for his father, Sam Sr., at Abbeville last year. The elder Seefelt was double-A coach of the year in 1965 but left athletics to work for the state Education Department in the field of adult education.

The association picked John Thompson of Mansfield as first vice president and L. J. Raymond of Plaquemine as second vice president. T. H. White Hoping For Third Time Charm At NLSC

(This is the sixth of a summer series on the 1966 football prospects of the Gulf States Conference Colleges.)

That old saying, "The third time's the charm," may not fit Coach Dixie White and Northeast State exactly, but there are several reasons for optimism as White prepares for his third Indian football season.

Losses from the 1965 team that had a 1-8 record were negligible and there are 27 lettermen on the squad. Experience and depth is much better than in White's two previous seasons, especially at end, guard, fullback and halfback. There's still a shortage of backfield speed, however.

Coach White's main problem is the schedule. Athletic Director White lined up for him. It features the usual five Gulf States Conference opponents, another meeting with East Carolina, the Southern Conference's single-wing juggernaut, the return, after an absence of a year, of powerful independent Tampa, and Delta State, Southeast Missouri and Louisiana College.

If the Indians had to begin play against these foes tomorrow, White and aides Wallace Hargan, Ralph Lane, Bill Dotson and Lynn LeBlanc, the ex-LSU tackle who joined the staff last winter, would probably start two platoons consisting of 15 lettermen and seven redshirts, squadmen and newcomers.

Veteran Charles Rohner (194) and red-shirt Jerry Vega (188), an offensive center and detensive end, would probably be the defensive ends. At tackle there are two first-rate seniors — Ronnie Sumter (215), second team all-GSC last year, and James Kirkendall (220), voted the team's top lineman. Junior Joe Bondurant (198), a starter as a freshman but a second stringer last year, won all-GSC last year, and James Kirkendall (220), voted the won back the middle guard job with a fine spring performance.

Returnee Wayne Cunningham (187) and newcomer Ron Gaetano (196) should make line-backing one of the team's top plus factors. Cunningham was one of the club's best defensive men in '65 and Gaetano was a spring game stickout.

A pair of juniors, Larry Johnson (169) and Nic LaBarbera (170), will be the corner backs and junior Thomas Eddleman (175) and sophomore squadman James Chappell (182) will be the safeties.

The offensive ends will be sophomores Floyd Gahlin (190) and Tommy Lewis (206). Gahlin was a regular last year and was third in receptions with eight for 101 yards. Lewis was a defensive starter.

Kenneth Holland (185), the 1965 receiving leader with 19 catches for 257 yards, could take over one of these spots. He missed spring practice because of an operation on a hand.

Returning starter Charles Rogers (215) and newcomer Allen Richert (204), who also plays end, will be the tackles and red-shirt Steve Brasher (191) and '65 regular Andy Mapp (205) will be the guards.

Newcomer Vic Bender (222) is the top choice to open at offensive center.

Sophomore Steve Mansur (170) the team's leading runner and passer last year, will be the quarterback, backed up by fellow soph Allen Bozeman (172), who started several games in 1965.

A member of the 1965 all-GSC defensive unit, senior Alton Thomas (174), has been moved over to offense and will start at halfback along with red-shirt Howard Swindler (155), a sophomore.

Fullback will be held down by either junior Bobby Scafield (196), a regular who missed several games last year because of injuries, or newcomer Jim Booth (200).

Fullback is one of the team's strongest positions. In addition to Scafield, Booth and Gaetano, there is Mike Shepherd (210), last year's regular center who was moved to fullback and did a fine job in spring practice.

There are also plenty of experienced halfbacks. David Elkin (185) may elbow into one of the offensive starting posts while Lynn Mitchell (166), a true receiver, track star Ronnie Fountain (160) and ex-quarterback Melvin Shores (170) are other halfback lettermen.

Mike Cleveland (181) is another letterman end and Raymond Taylor (198) — a starter who sat out spring practice with a knee injury — Greg Jubert (199) and Steve Hidalgo (174) have won letters at guard.

Wayne Armbruster (187), who has started on both offense and defense, is another experienced center.

Coach White rates the team as improved both offensively and defensively.

"This is an improved team. We're much better off in depth and experience and, in contrast to last year, should be able to survive injuries to regulars without too great a drop in quality."

"Our No. 1 objective in spring practice was to improve our offense and we feel this was

HEAD COACH and Athletic Director Dixie White begins his third season at Northeast State and is cautiously optimistic about his club's chances for vast improvement in the 1966 season. After two years of playing 90 per cent freshmen and sophomores, White can call on a host of juniors among the 27 lettermen back this fall.

Wild Duck Population Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department announced Friday night that the wild duck population has shown a significant increase and there will be some easing of last year's restrictive hunting regulations.

Details of the regulations, however, will not be made known for another week or so.

Director John S. Gottschalk of Interior's Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife had told a reporter Wednesday that the four flyway councils were being told that an easing of the hunting restrictions is in prospect.

The department said in a news release that North America's duck breeding population had made a remarkable comeback from last year's low point.

This, plus improved nesting conditions this year on the vital northern prairie breeding grounds, is expected to produce a larger flight of ducks, the announcement added.

Gottschalk said in the release that the breeding population is still below the average for the last 11 years but this year's increase is especially significant in view of the outlook for continued improvement of nesting conditions on the northern plains.

However, the mallard, which Gottschalk said is perhaps the most important game duck, is still at a relatively low level.

He said continuing good conditions expected in the major nesting areas next year will mean increased capacity for more breeding birds.

Gottschalk noted that the Waterfowl Advisory Committee will meet here Tuesday and Wednesday to hear reports on the status of the duck, goose and other waterfowl populations and work out proposed hunting regulations for recommendation to Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall.

Gottschalk added: "The condition of the duck population this year will permit some easing of last year's restrictive regulations. However, the mallard will still require extra protection in order to bring it back to desired numbers."

Washington Orioles, 4-2

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ken McMullen and Fred Valentine drove in three runs with consecutive homers in the first inning, leading the Washington Senators to a 4-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Friday night.

The Orioles, who scored two runs in the first off Jim Hannan without a hit, were held to two hits over the final eight innings by Bob Humphreys.

Humphreys came in after Hannan walked the lead-off batter in the second and retired 11 batters in a row before Luis Aparicio singled through the middle with two outs in the fifth. Seven more Orioles went down in a row before Vic Roznovsky singled in the eighth.

McMullen, who had three of Washington's 11 hits, slugged his ninth homer off loser Eddie Watt in the first with Ed Brinkman aboard. Valentine followed with his 11th homer.

The Orioles, who have lost three in a row, loaded the bases on walks in the first inning and scored on Hannan's wild pitch and an infield out by Boog Powell.

Musgraves Has Elbow Surgery

NEW YORK (AP) — Right-handed pitcher Dennis Musgraves, who received a reported $100,000 bonus to sign with the New York Mets two years ago, has undergone surgery for the removal of bone chips in his right elbow, the Mets said Friday.

Musgraves has been on the disabled list of the Greenville, S.C. team, the Mets' farm in the Western Carolina League.

Another Mets' farmhand, third baseman Jim Lampe of Williamsport, Pa., in the Eastern League, was operated on Thursday for calcium deposits in both heels.

Wild Duck Population Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department announced Friday night that the wild duck population has shown a significant increase and there will be some easing of last year's restrictive hunting regulations.

Details of the regulations, however, will not be made known for another week or so.

Director John S. Gottschalk of Interior's Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife had told a reporter Wednesday that the four flyway councils were being told that an easing of the hunting restrictions is in prospect.

The department said in a news release that North America's duck breeding population had made a remarkable comeback from last year's low point. This, plus improved nesting conditions this year on the vital northern prairie breeding grounds, is expected to produce a larger flight of ducks, the announcement added.

Gottschalk said in the release that the breeding population is still below the average for the last 11 years but this year's increase is especially significant in view of the outlook for continued improvement of next conditions on the northern plains.

However, the mallard, which Gottschalk said is perhaps the most important game duck, is still at a relatively low level.

He said continuing good conditions expected in the major nesting areas next year will mean increased capacity for more breeding birds.

Gottschalk noted that the Waterfowl Advisory Committee will meet here Tuesday and Wednesday to hear reports on the status of the duck, goose and other waterfowl populations and work out proposed hunting regulations for recommendation to Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall.

Gottschalk added: "The condition of the duck population this year will permit some easing of last year's restrictive regulations. However, the mallard will still require extra protection in order to bring it back to desired numbers."

HEAD COACH and Athletic Director Dixie White begins his third season at Northeast State and is cautiously optimistic about his club's chances for vast improvement in the 1966 season. After two years of playing 90 per cent freshmen and sophomores, White can call on a host of juniors among the 27 lettermen back this fall.

Washington Sweeps Past Orioles, 4-2

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ken McMullen and Fred Valentine drove in three runs with consecutive homers in the first inning, leading the Washington Senators to a 4-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Friday night.

The Orioles, who scored two runs in the first off Jim Hannan without a hit, were held to two hits over the final eight innings by Bob Humphreys.

Humphreys came in after Hannan walked the lead-off batter in the second and retired 11 batters in a row before Luis Aparicio singled through the middle with two outs in the fifth. Seven more Orioles went down in a row before Vic downsky singled in the eighth. McMullen, who had three of Washington's 11 hits, slugged his ninth homer off loser Eddie Watt in the first with Ed Brinkman aboard. Valentine followed with his 11th homer.

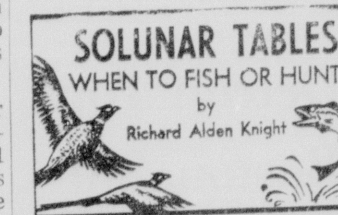

The Orioles, who have lost three in a row, loaded the bases on walks in the first inning and scored on Hannan's wild pitch and an infield out by Boog Powell.

Oilers Announce Inking Ledbetter

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers announced Friday the signing of Monty Ledbetter, a split end and flanker from Northwest Louisiana State.

Ledbetter was the 11th round draft choice of Houston of the American Football League last year and the 10th round pick of the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League. The Browns released him last week.

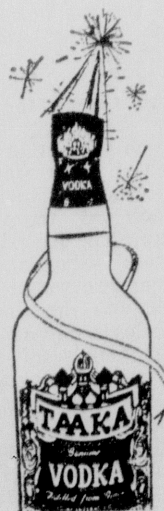

The solunar periods, during which there is maximum fish and wildlife activity, are printed below. Major periods began at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours. Minor periods are shorter.

Santo Paces Cubs

By San Francisco

CHICAGO (AP) — Ron Santo's two-run bloop single with one out in the 10th inning enabled the Chicago Cubs to defeat San Francisco 4-3 Friday.

Santo accounted for all four Cubs' runs, slamming solo homers in the second and ninth inning.

Tito Fuentes' homer in the top half of the 10th inning had given the Giants a 3-2 lead.

Joe Torre, Menke Lead Braves Win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joe Torre and Denis Menke drove in five ninth-inning runs with homers Friday night as the Atlanta Braves whipped Philadelphia 9-2 and snapped the Phillies' winning streak at seven games.

Woody Woodward's sacrifice fly following three straight walks by Joe Verbanic broke a 2-2 tie for the Braves in the eighth, and they put the game out of reach the following inning.

After Mack Jones doubled home the first run, Ray Herbert walked Hank Aaron intentionally. Torre then drove his 27th homer over the right field wall for three more runs.

Rico Carty followed with a single, and Menke connected for his eighth homer.

The Phillies took a 2-0 lead in the second on a single by Tony Taylor, a sacrifice-fielder's choice, Dick Groat's run scoring single and a double by Johnny Briggs.

Right-hander Bob Buhl blanked the Braves without a hit through the first five innings, but was reached for the tying runs in the sixth.

Aaron singled, Torre doubled and Eddie Mathews singled for one run. Menke sent home another with a sacrifice fly.

The victory was Dick Kelly's first against two losses. Kelly pitched seven innings, striking out four and walking none.

Reliever Ted Abernathy worked the final two innings for the Braves, striking out one and walking none while holding the Phillies scoreless.

The Braves had loaded the bases in the fourth inning. With one out, Torre and Carty singled and Mathews walked to load the bases. Buhl pitched his way out of the jam by striking out Menke and getting Woodward on a popout to Dick Groat.

Carty led Braves hitters with three hits in four times at bat, scoring three runs.

Rozelle Reveals Pro Football Seeks Congress' Merger Okay

CHICAGO (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle revealed Friday that pro football is seeking substitute legislation from Congress that would serve to approve the recent merger of the National and American Football Leagues.

Rozelle said that because of the "vagueness of antitrust statutes" the league was trying to obtain legislation in Congress covering the merger rather than hope for an entire sports bill to be passed.

The entire sports bill, which would give all pro sports the same exemptions under antitrust laws that baseball now has, still is making its way through Congress and might not be acted on in time this summer.

"We would like something covering our single league plan so we could bring reasonable implementation of our nounced plan."

Rozelle then was asked what would happen if legislation is not forthcoming. He said the league then would consult with its legal counsel in Washington, but added:

"We have a total package — and for us it's all or nothing. Right now we have every intention of going through with it."

In his talk and a subsequent question and answer period, Rozelle also touched on various aspects of the merger and their ramifications, including what would happen to player salaries.

Rozelle admitted that the signing of Pete Gogolak, who played out his option with the AFL's Buffalo Bills and joined the NFL's New York Giants, had "created some internal problems within the NFL among the people who were then concerned with the peace talks going on."

And he cited some of the major reasons for the merger:

That people like George Haas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears and Vince Lombardi, coach and general manager of the Green Bay Packers, were concerned that the "main motivation" might be taken from players because of the rising salaries and that there might be a "lack of incentive on the part of the players."

He said owners like William Ford of Detroit, Clint Murchion of Dallas and Lamar Hunt of Kansas City weren't as concerned with the money aspects of the problem.

"The game wasn't much fun to them anymore," he said.

And, finally, he said some of the owners with less money were worried that continued escalation of the war would force them to either sell or move their franchises.

Rozelle also said he saw no reason why player salaries would decrease under the merger.

"They will continue to go up," he said. "Spirit is a major factor in success and management realizes it must be fair and must have a satisfied team."

He went on to say that the minimum salary limit likely will be increased and that, with the absence of the huge bonus payments to rookies, the teams should be able to "more equitably compensate their veterans."

As for the rookies, Rozelle said bonuses won't be as high in the past but "there still will be bonuses. And if the rookies will look into it they will find they will make more money in five months than most college grads will in a year."

Mason Has Eye On Brown's Title

MANKATO, Minn. (AP) — Tommy Mason has his eye on Jim Brown's title and the 1,000-yard club as well. The hard-running Minnesota halfback thinks it will be a wide open race for the rushing championship in the NFL.

"It could be a free for all with Jim out of there," said Mason at the Vikings' camp on the campus of Mankato State College. "Of course, if Gale Sayers can do it again like he did last year, he could take it all. If I can play 14 games, I think I have a chance along with Bill Brown of our club, Jim Taylor of Green Bay and Timmy Brown of the Eagles."

"Boy, that Sayers was really something last year. It wasn't luck, just pure ability. You know, we have some fine running backs in this league."

Mason might already be a member of that exclusive 1,000-yard club if he could stay healthy. Something always seems to happen to the injury-prone back. If it isn't a knee, it's an elbow, a fractured foot or the knee again. So far the knee he damaged last year is holding up fine.

"I came in at 190 pounds, about eight pounds less than usual," he said, "so I wouldn't put too much pressure on the knee. Maybe the law of averages will be running for me this time."

Mason's right knee crumpled under him when he had broken into the open against Green Bay and was just about to turn the corner for a long gain. He missed the last five games of the season.

Close observers of the Vikings say Mason's injuries can be traced to his go-go drive. He always tries to take the extra inch. Instead of settling for three yards and the first down he wants to make it five.

Fans Ready For Ryan's New Problem

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Football followers will be watching Saturday night to see Cleveland quarterback and doctor of mathematics Frank Ryan solve the following problem of subtraction:

Take fullback Jim Brown from the Cleveland offense, and what do you have?

Ryan gets 60 minutes to answer before an expected 50,000 fans at Memorial Coliseum, while the Los Angeles Rams attempt to subvert his efforts.

Brown, who broke virtually every rushing mark in the National Football League during his nine-year career, has given up screen passes for screenplays, retiring to make movies.

Cleveland Coach Blanton Collier has billed Ernie Green as a replacement.

A year ago, when the Browns won the National Football League Eastern Division and the Rams were last in the West, Los Angeles sneaked by Cleveland 42-7. The aforementioned Brown rolled up 20 yards in just 13 carries — his worst game of the season.

But the Rams are wary of the Brownless Browns because Coach George Allen has cautioned them that Cleveland will be out to prove itself.

And Ryan has conceded that the loss of Brown presents a challenge.

The Rams, remembering last year's success, will make only two changes in the starting offense. Halfback Tom Moore, obtained in the off-season from the Green Bay Packers and fullback Len Josephson, a reserve a year, will anchor the running attack.

Nominated for starting quarterback is Roman Gabriel, who led a December resurgence in 1965, after Bill Munson was injured.

Chicago Gets Past Angels

ANAHEIM (AP) — Tommie Agee and John Romano hit homers in support of Gary Peters' five-hit pitching Friday night as the Chicago White Sox defeated the California Angels 3-1.

Singles by Pete Ward and Romano, combined with Ken Berry's sacrifice fly, produced the go-ahead run. Roman made it 3-1 in the eighth with his ninth homer.

All the runs came off loser Clyde Wright, 4-4.

Peters, who had lost three in a row to the Angels, gave up an unearned run in the first inning on a double by Jose Cardenal, an error by third baseman Don Buford and a single by Frank Malzone.

The Angels advanced only one runner as far as second base in the last eight innings as Peters gained his eighth victory against as many defeats.

Atlanta Recalls Richmond Player

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Atlanta Braves recalled switch-hitting second baseman Lee Bales Friday from their Richmond farm club in the International League.

At the same time, the Braves optioned left-handed pitcher Dan Schneider to Richmond.

The Braves said Bales, hitting .283 with 22 runs batted in and 16 stolen bases, would be inserted into the lineup immediately when he reports to the team at Philadelphia.

College Place Baptist dumped Memorial Methodist 14-9. Berry collected the mound and Berry took the loss. Moncrief had two homers for the winners.

The Fire Fighters captured the Industrial League crown with a 8-5 victory over Morgan & Lindsey. McCough was credited with the win while Carter was charged with the loss. Lockwood paced the winners with two homers. Hemler homered for the losers.

over Charley Hennigan's shoulder at the newspaper article heralding the new-era Oilers.

"New era," said Blanda with a smile. "The old era's still here."

The big question is whether the 37-year-old old-era Blanda can hold off for at least one more season the new-era hopes, 26-year-old Jacky Lee and 23-year-old Don Trull.

Blanda, who goes into his seventh American Football League season needing just 210 yards to hit the 10-mile mark passing, isn't thinking about relinquishing the No. 1 quarterback's job until after the season despite the volume of criticism leveled at him.

"This year could be it," he said as he mullied over the retirement question. "It's possible, very, very possible. Actually there's only a slight chance I'll be back."

"If I have a good year and we have a winning season I might play again. If not I'll give it up."

The fans in Houston have been publicly asking Blanda to give it up since last season when they booed him unmercifully and vocally protested his continued hold on the quarterback job.

"I wouldn't say all that doesn't bother me," said Blanda. "Any time you get raspberries it's got to affect you a little. The only bright thing is they boo everybody so I can't be too unhappy about it."

Brewer Knotts Goalby In Cleveland Tourney

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steady Gay Brewer charged in with three-under-par 68 Friday and tied Bob Goalby for the half-way lead in the $100,000 Cleveland Open tournament with a 36-hole score of 135.

It looked like a three-way tie for the lead when Phil Rodgers also came in with a 68, but the LaJolla, Calif., golfer was disqualified for failing to sign his score card.

This marked the second time this season a tournament leader was disqualified for not signing his card. Doug Sanders was the victim after the second round in the Pensacola Open, where he held a four-stroke lead.

The 35-year-old Goalby, whose best finish this year was a tie for third in the New Orleans Open, shot a 67 Friday morning with the help of an eagle and assumed the early lead.

But Brewer, the tour's fourth leading money winner, rallied for a share of the lead. He and Goalby were seven under for the 36 holes as the field of 144 pros seeking the $20,000 first prize continued its assault on par.

The front-runners withstood a brilliant 64 by veteran Julius Boros that set the course record over the Lakewood Country Club's par 36-35-71, 6,777-yard layout.

Boros' hot round, added to his opening 72, put him only one stroke off the pace and in a tie at 136 with Johnny Pott, who shot a 70.

The low 70 shooters and ties qualified for the final 36 holes of competition today and Sunday.

Goalby, in the money 15 times in 24 tournaments this season, rang up four birds and a pair of bogeys. He notched his eagle on the 530-yard sixth hole when he drove into the rough, reached the green with a booming three-iron and rolled in a 20-foot putt.

Goalby had a 68 Thursday while Brewer and Rodgers came in with 67's. Brewer, 34, has won only the Pensacola Open, but was close in several others and lost the Masters in a playoff to Jack Nicklaus.

Brewer's card showed five birds and two bogeys, one of the bogeys coming on the 15th hole when he missed a three-footer.

Rodgers, No. 5 on the money list, registered birds on the 15th and 16th holes.

Boros, the former two-time U.S. Open Champion, posted eight birds in his torrid round and faulted only on No. 5 when he drove into a trap and missed a 15-foot putt for a bogey.

Two strokes off the pace at Blanda not only was criticized last season for the way he played but for being a coach without portfolio. The whole situation developed into a show-down when Coach Hugh (Bones) Taylor issued a Blanda-or-me ultimatum, openly suggesting that the Oilers let Blanda go.

Blanda's still here. Wally Lemm is the new coach.

But, with the entire situation as a reminder, Blanda is consciously avoiding getting involved with the two young quarterbacks.

"They're both good quarterbacks — excellent prospects," Blanda said. "But I got criticized for anything I did last year. I don't want anybody to be able to go out and say I'm coaching this year. If they need any help in any area I'll go out of my way to help them."

"But I'm not saying anything unless I'm asked."

Colts Veteran Not To Retire

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore Colts announced Friday that offensive guard Alex Sandusky has decided not to retire after all, and has re-joined the team.

Sandusky retired last year after his 12th season in the National Football League.

The team asked Sandusky, 34, to return this year, but he decided only this week "that I could help the club."

Tommy Aaron, who had a first-round 75, withdrew from the tournament because of illness after playing three holes.

Sander, the tour's second leading money winner, failed to land among the 77 qualifiers. He had a 72-74-146.

Party Entertains

Miss Adele Allen

Miss Adele Allen was entertained with a hamburger cook-out and slumber party, Wednesday, by Miss Anne Whitaker, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Whitaker. The planned move next week of Miss Allen and her family, the L. D. Allens, to New Orleans occasioned the farewell festivity at the Whitaker home on Fairview Drive for Miss Allen.

Several close friends of the departing teenager gathered for the informal party which began at 6 in the afternoon and continued to Thursday morning.

Gift Presentation Highlights Rehearsal Dinner For Couple

Orchid Room of Arlie's in Bastrop was scene of a dinner last evening at 7:30 honoring Miss Lynda Carpenter and Chester William Rousseau. The event followed the wedding rehearsal of the couple who are to exchange nuptial vows today at 3 p. m. at Memorial Methodist Church in Bastrop.

Mrs. Chester William Rousseau Sr. was hostess for the final pre-nuptial festivity honoring her son and his soon-to-be bride.

A flat sterling silver bowl holding a massive arrangement of yellow Fuji chrysanthemums formed the decorative centerpiece for the table. Burning white tapers entwined with Southern simlax placed at intervals along the dinner tables completed the decor. A bridal motif was featured on the guest cards designating the seating arrangement.

The bridal couple chose this occasion to present their attendants with gifts as mementoes of their betrothal and wedding.

Miss Carpenter, wearing a sleeveless aqua crepe featuring a lace trimmed bodice, white accessories and white carnation corsage, joined her prospective bridegroom in greeting the dinner guests.

Joining the hostess and honor couple were Mrs. J. T. Carpenter, mother of the bride-elect, the Reverend and Mrs. Abe Connerly, Mr. and Mrs. Robbin Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rousseau of West Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lynn, Miss Virginia Heard of Upper Nyack, New York; Miss Delores Tucker of Crowley, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Martin, Monroe, David Stone, Monroe, Miss Linda Cochran, Monroe, Miss Andre' Robinson, Mrs. W. O. Day, Mr. and Mrs. Don Sepulveda of Jonesboro for the final festivity.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. GEORGE WALKER'S home was scene of a buffet luncheon honoring summer graduates of Northeast Louisiana State College on Tuesday at 11 a.m. Shown

Dear Abby

Don't Sit And Sulk, Air Out And Discuss Problem

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My husband is a tooth grinder. When he sleeps he grinds his teeth like you wouldn't believe. He ate three inches of lace off his pillow slip.

I can't go into another room because the beds are full of kids, so I go into the bathroom and read until my eyes are crossed. Please, help me.

RAW NERVES
DEAR RAW: If your husband won't go willingly to his dentist, bind, gag, and drag him there. Modern dental techniques have helped many a tooth grinder. Don't put it off. He is ruining not only your health, but his teeth.

P. S. And take those lace-edged pillow slips off his pillows. He could CHOKE to death.

DEAR ABBY: This may sound strange, but in the four years my husband and I have been married, we have never had a fight. O', we've had plenty of disagreements, but we have never settled any of them. When my husband is mad about something, he just sits and sulks. He won't even tell me what's wrong.

I am as bad as he is. When I'm mad, I just hold everything inside. I get a lump in my throat and tears in my eyes and I keep quiet. Sometimes I wish we could bring all our complaints out in the open and have a good old-fashioned shouting argument, but I honestly wouldn't know how to start one. Can you give me some suggestions?

NEEDS A FIGHT
DEAR NEEDS: You are wise to want to "bring your complaints out into the open." Allowing unresolved tensions to build up inside can cause one major explosion far more serious than several minor ones. No married couple can agree on EVERYTHING unless one of them is a vegetable.

When something bothers you, swallow that lump in your throat, let the tears fall where they may and keep talking until you make sense. Don't spout off in anger in an effort to hurt the other, but describe your feelings honestly.

This is sure to provoke some sort of reaction in your husband. He'll either deny or affirm, defend or counter-attack, justify or apologize. And before you know it, you'll have cleared the air.

DEAR ABBY: A daughter who was very much concerned over her mother's sudden drinking problem wrote, "Abby, why would a loving, respected grandmother turn to alcohol after all these years?"

Had that daughter reread her own letter, she would have dis-

Poetry Society Hosts Luncheon, Business Meet

Northeast Branch of the Louisiana State Poetry Society held Saturday at the Holiday Inn in Monroe. Mrs. J. A. Combs hosted the event. Mrs. Christine Huttis, retiring president, presided over the luncheon and welcomed out-of-town members and guests. Two members reported on their attendance at Deep South Writer's Conference and the National Federation of State Poetry Societies Conference which was held in Eureka Springs, Arkansas.

Mrs. David Carter gave the program of poetry which consisted of the reading of the works of members. Members participated in a name-the-poet quiz with gift books won by Mrs. S. O. Williams and Mrs. Everett Lawson.

After the luncheon, election of officers was held and Mrs. V. S. Garnett was chosen to be president with Mrs. W. E. McCoy as secretary - treasurer. Mrs. Virgil Parker was named to head the yearbook committee and designate the calendar of events. Hostesses were named to serve during the two - year period.

Members present were Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Combs, Mrs. Garnett, Mrs. Huttis, Mrs. J. D. Johns, Mrs. Lawson, Mrs. McCoy, Mrs. Debbie Nettles, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. Aubrey Walker, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Mary Wingfield.

Couple's Prenuptial Parties End With Rehearsal Dinner

Last evening Miss Linda Kay Mike Dispenza, Frank Crouch, Truett and John Michael May-Larry Dalton, Randy Brodmax, were entertained with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Truett, the dinner following their wedding rehearsal. The prospective bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Maynard hosted the final pre-nuptial festivity in the Gable Room of Hemp's Cafeteria.

The vows are to be repeated this morning at 10:30 in Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church with the Reverend George Martinez officiating. Arrangements of summer flowers in shades of pink and white were used to enhance the decorations for the gala festivity.

Guests were Miss Mary Frances Elias, Miss Helen Scroggs, Miss Dee Jones, Miss Deborah Feeney, Miss Amy Flynn, Miss Nancy Bourque, Dick Watkins, Jimmy Truett, Pat Maynard.

EASY STREET

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Automated highways on which you could read a newspaper while the car drives itself are possible at a cost of less than $30,000 per mile of highway, say 18 University of Michigan electrical engineering students. The students who studied developing such a system as a class project, say automation could be provided by a buried cable device which uses a pulsed signal to determine car spacing and control.

Don't Sit And Sulk, Air Out And Discuss Problem

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My husband is a teething grinder. When he sleeps he grinds his teeth like you wouldn't believe. He ate three inches of lace off his pillow slip. I can't go into another room because the beds are full of kids, so I go into the bathroom and read until my eyes are crossed. Please, help me.

RAW NERVES
DEAR RAW: If your husband won't go willingly to his dentist, bind, gag, and drag him there. Modern dental techniques have helped many a teeth grinder. Don't put it off. He is ruining not only your health, but his teeth.

P. S. And take those lace-edged pillow slips off his pillows. He could CHOKE to death.

DEAR ABBY: This may sound strange, but in the four years my husband and I have been married, we have never had a fight. O', we've had plenty of disagreements, but we have never settled any of them. When my husband is mad about something, he just sits and sulks. He won't even tell me what's wrong.

I am as bad as he is. When I'm mad, I just hold everything inside. I get a lump in my throat and tears in my eyes and I keep quiet. Sometimes I wish we could bring all our complaints out in the open and have

Poetry Society Hosts Luncheon, Business Meet

Northeast Branch of the Louisiana State Poetry Society held Saturday at the Holiday Inn in Monroe. Mrs. J. A. Combs hosted the event. Mrs. Christine Huttis, retiring president, presided over the luncheon and welcomed out-of-town members and guests. Two members reported on their attendance at Deep South Writer's Conference and the National Federation of State Poetry Societies Conference which was held in Eureka Springs, Arkansas.

Mrs. David Carter gave the program of poetry which consisted of the reading of the works of members. Members participated in a name-the-poet quiz with gift books won by Mrs. S. O. Williams and Mrs. Everett Lawson.

After the luncheon, election of officers was held and Mrs. V. S. Garnett was chosen to be president with Mrs. W. E. McCoy as secretary - treasurer. Mrs. Virgil Parker was named to head the yearbook committee and designate the calendar of events. Hostesses were named to serve during the two-year period.

Members present were Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Combs, Mrs. Garnett, Mrs. Huttis, Mrs. J. D. Johns, Mrs. Lawson, Mrs. McCoy, Mrs. Debbie Nettles, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. Aubrey Walker, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Mary Wingfield.

Couple's Prenuptial Parties End With Rehearsal Dinner

Last evening Miss Linda Kay Truett and John Michael Maynard were entertained with a dinner following their wedding rehearsal. The prospective bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Maynard hosted the final pre-nuptial festivity in the Gable Room of Hemp's Cafeteria.

The vows are to be repeated this morning at 10:30 in Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church with the Reverend George Martinez officiating.

Arrangements of summer flowers in shades of pink and white were used to enhance the decorations for the gala festivity.

Guests were Miss Mary Frances Elias, Miss Helen Scroggs, Miss Dee Jones, Miss Deborah Feeney, Miss Amy Flynn, Miss Nancy Bourque, Dick Watkins, Jimmy Truett, Pat Maynard.

SAVORY CRABMEAT
2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons finely grated onion (pulp and juice)
1/2 teaspoon prepared yellow mustard
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of celery soup, undiluted
1/4 cup each minced celery and green pepper
1 can (7 1/2 ounces) king crab with tendons removed, drained and cut
2 thin-cut bread slices, crumbed, removed and finely crushed
1 1/2 tablespoons butter, melted paprika

In a mixing bowl, stir together the lemon juice, onion and mustard, stir in a little of the soup, then the rest of it with the celery, green pepper and crab. Turn into 3 buttered individual round oven-glass pie plates (6 by 1 inch). Mix crumbs with butter; sprinkle over crab mixture; dust with paprika. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until hot, bubbly and topping is lightly browned - about 20 minutes. Makes 3 servings.

Kilbourne Couple Have Celebration On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fails, of Kilbourne, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday with an open house. The event was hosted by their daughters and families, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Pearce, of Ruston and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Morrow Jr. of Lamar, Colo.

Over 100 friends and relatives called during the appointed hours to celebrate with the honored couple. Mr. Fails was privileged to have with him on this memorable occasion his twin brother, Arlie Fails, of D'Lo, Miss. His sister, Mrs. L. F. Harper and many of her family were present. Mrs. Fails' brother, W. E. Ross and Mrs. Ross also assisted in the courtesies.

Serving as tea girls were Misses Carol Morrow and Pam Pearce, granddaughters of the couple. Miss LaWanda Pearce invited the guests to register at an appointed time.

Presiding at the punch bowl was Mrs. Ross, serving golden fruit punch at the tea table overlaid with a white linen cloth from Germany. Dainty white and gold petit fours were served from a large tiered crystal serving dish topped with a bride and groom.

The centerpiece featured yellow gladioli and chrysanthemums, portraying the golden anniversary. Floral arrangements were placed at vantage points throughout the house by Mrs. H. R. Doss.

Others helping in preparation for courtesies of the day were Mr. and Mrs. John Kovac, Marshall Peace, Jim Charles Pearce and W. R. Pearce.

Out - of - town guests included Mrs. Mary Locknar, of Pine Bluff, Ark., Miss Anne Wylie of Miami, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Pearce Sr., Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Pearce Jr., Jay and Marty Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Abernathy and Davis of Ruston.

Dear Heloise:
Most housewives wonder if they empty pepper cans completely when transferring pepper to a shaker.

Here is a trick I learned:
Use a beverage bottle opener on one corner of the pepper can and the top lifts up like the lids on frozen strawberry packages.

You can look in the can and be sure all of the pepper is out of the can.

After all, pepper is expensive, so why leave some in the bottom of the can to be thrown away?

Why indeed? This would also work on many of our spice cans. And there might be just enough left in a can for that one-minute before you go to the grocery store.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER
Dear Heloise:
One of my greatest timesavers is my husband who mops the floors!

Jessie
Dear Heloise:
When sorting through the small jars I usually save for homemade jellies and jams, the thought struck me what an odd and homely assortment I had!

They were of every size and shape — mustard jars, instant coffee jars, baby food, and other types.

Then I thought of my dish cupboard, containing mismatched glasses, the one or two cups left from dish sets, deep sauce dishes, odd mugs and stemmed sherberts . . . and I had an idea.

Why not use THESE as my jelly containers?

They would be attractive to use on the table. When tied with a ribbon and cheery tag, plus a sprig of holly or flower, what a pretty and different holiday gift each would make.

I put my idea to work and am pleased with the results.

I used paraffin as usual, and put a cap of aluminum foil, held tightly over each container for storage.

When used for the gift idea, I'll replace the aluminum cap with one made from a lace doily and ribbon.

Charlotte Gibson
Dear Heloise:
For new mothers with loads of baby shower gifts and not enough dresser space to store them. . .

I found the ideal supplement is an inexpensive plastic shoe bag.

These are equipped with 10 shelves and only take up about eight inches of space when hanging in your closet.

If you buy a clear bag, it's so handy to see right where those extra shirts, receiving blankets, etc., are.

Brenda Staurowsky
Brenda, you are a doll to pass this space-saver along to other mothers of other little dolls.

Not only is it easy to locate the item you want, but the zippered bag will keep them completely dust-free.

Heloise
Dear Heloise:
A large shag rug on the floor of our tent catches the moisture from wet bathing suits and gives an additional softness for that rock that always seems to be under a sleeping bag or air mattress.

Paper towels hung on a wire clothes hanger by opening the hanger and inserting the roll of towels and refastening hanger makes a handy dispenser for paper towels hanging on a tree limb.

Also, a child's broom and rake are very handy on camping trips.

Jessie Clemons
Dear Heloise:
If a drawing is needed for a child's or adult's hood, a cord from a used tote bag is ideal.

Shoestrings make good ties for the inside of wrap-around dresses, or to make loops for children's coats and sweaters to hang on a hook at school or at home.

Washington Plans Get 'All Go' Sign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last sentimental touches were added to the wedding party rehearsed at the White House today as the bride and groom prepared for the noon wedding of Luci Baines Johnson and Patrick J. Nugent.

The Washington weather looked cool and good for the nuptials of the President's daughter and her tall fiancé from Wauegan, Ill.

Chances of rain "near zero," the forecaster said.

The White House was agog with excited bride and bridesmaids putting the last-minute touches to their pink-and-white bridal gowns, their hairdos and their parts in the big wedding at the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception.

Luci finally decided on the sentimental items — something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue, and a sixpence for her shoe.

The bride-to-be slept late today and expected to be up late at a wedding-eve dinner and dancing party given for the bride and groom by her future in-laws, Mr. and Mrs. Gerard P. Nugent.

Luci and Nugent arrived in arm 25 minutes late for the afternoon rehearsal at the church and were greeted by a crowd of about 800 including many nuns, clergymen and tourists, who cheered and applauded the wedding party.

The Johnsons and the Nugents responded with waves of their hands, smiles and then some personal handshakes amid the crowds.

Asked how things were going, the day before their wedding, 23-year-old Nugent said, "Hectic, hectic!" When Luci was asked if she was nervous, she said in a low voice, "Yes."

Most of the crowd dispersed after the newlyweds-to-be entered the church but some remained to see President Johnson arrive unexpectedly for a 20-minute runthrough of his part in Saturday's ceremony. He led his daughter down the aisle, with Luci wearing a bedsheet over her shoulders to simulate the bride's train.

As Johnson was walking outside the church one spectator cried loudly, "Butcher! Murder!"

er!" in apparent reference to the war in Viet Nam but the President appeared not to hear. Police seized a man and hustled him away.

Johnson told reporters, "I've always wanted a boy. We're getting the kind of boy we like and wanted. Luci is a happy, bouncy and lively girl. We're very happy."

Luci, dressed in a blue tunic blouse and bright red skirt, with a white lace mantilla, and Nugent in green-brown slacks and sports jacket, delighted the crowd by going to both sides for handshakes. One woman yelled out loudly to Luci, "Lots of luck, God bless you, honey." And then she yelled after them, "God bless you, Nugent."

Mrs. Johnson, her older daughter Lynda and Nugent's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerard P. Nugent, pleased the crowd with waves and personal blessings from many of the nuns as they held the hands of the bride couple.

Meanwhile Chief Justice Earl Warren rejected without comment a request for a restraining order to permit an antiwar group to picket the wedding without possibility of arrest.

A group, calling itself the Washington Committee to End the War in Viet Nam, said in its petition that police have refused to give assurances that demonstrators will not be arrested if they stage protests at the church and at the White House where the reception is to be held.

The bride-to-be slept late Friday and expected to be up late at a wedding-eve dinner and dancing party given for the bride and groom by her future in-laws.

Sixty-four, etc., 6th graf.

Sixty-four wedding-party guests were invited to the last of the long round of prenuptial celebrations. It promised to be one of the gayest amid the elegance of one of Washington's newest private clubs — the Georgetown Club.

Before the afternoon's wedding rehearsal at the church, a bevy of bridesmaids headed for the salon of the Johnsons' favorite French hairdresser, Jean Louis. And it got so busy there that at one point a Secret Service man was answering the telephone.

Among the final pronouncement from the White House was official word of the wedding day costumes to be worn by Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Nugent.

For the nation's First Lady and mother of the bride, it was an Adele Simpson short dress and coat ensemble, which the White House said was of "lemon sherbet silk crystalline with Peau d'Ange lace molded over the dress and tube-silhouetted coat." Designer Simpson previously had described the color as "mimosa yellow." A yellow draped chiffon turban, a roll bag of matching silk crystalline, matching silk shoes, white kid gloves and pearl earrings complete her outfit.

The bridegroom's mother selected an aquamarine Alencon lace and net short coat and dress made for her by a home state designer, Virginia Fiester of Lake Forest, Ill. She'll wear a veil of the same French net, aquamarine Peau de Soie shoes, white kid gloves, white beaded bag, and pearl earrings.

Flower girl Bedar Howard, 5, daughter of friends of the bride, has an ankle-length white dress of tulle, with a small bow with tiny pink pearls on the front of the bodice and another bow back of her hair.

Ring bearer Lyndon Hand, whose father, Lloyd Hand, was former U.S. chief of protocol, was outfitted in a white corded cotton suit with short pants, a three-buttoned jacket and an Eton collar.

He'll carry a white silk moiré pillow appliqued with heirloom ivory rosepoint lace medallions. To make sure he doesn't lose the wedding rings, thin white ribbons will hold them in place.

MRS. LYNDON JOHNSON and Mrs. Gerald Nugent arrive Friday at the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington to attend the wedding rehearsal of their daughter and son.

Presidency Aside For Awhile

LBJ Takes Up Role As Father Of Bride

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson pushed the presidency aside for a little while Friday to think and talk and reminisce about his daughter Luci and her romance with the boy she marries today.

He was the picture of a pleased, happy man on the eve of this great event.

He couldn't get upstairs for lunch because so many other things were going on, so he had some soup and sandwiches and the usual tanioca pudding on a tray downstairs in the White House theater.

Before and after and during his lunch, the President was leafing through albums, letters and photographs and telling how the father of the bride felt at this important, personal moment in his life.

"I'm going to miss Luci," he said. "She bounces in every morning. She comes in and kisses me goodnight. She always seems to be by my side when that seems to be the ingredient I wanted. I've always taken the position that anything she wanted to do, if she'd just take enough time to make the decision, I would go along with it because her judgment is very good."

Along the way, Johnson said of Luci: "I think that she'll have a family and just as many as the Good Lord will let her. She'll have a handful of kids."

He let it be known that they shouldn't be having too many financial problems to start with.

The President recalled that he and Mrs. Johnson always wanted a son very much. "And Luci," he said, "is really bringing us the kind of a boy we want."

The President summed up his impression of Patrick J. Nugent: "He's pretty much an all-American."

He said his daughter is bringing them a son for whom they have deep affection, deep respect, and in whom he and Mrs. Johnson have confidence.

"He's a real good fourth at the dinner table or swimming, or driving over the ranch. If someone comes in the room, he's the first one up. If somebody wants a match, he's the first to get it."

"His solutions are always good and logical. He smokes."

as the youngster makes the long journey down the church aisle.

The White House announced that these will be the traditional items carried by the bride:

Something old — a 58-year-old ivory lace handkerchief made by Luci's great-grandmother, Ruth Ament Huffman Baines, for her daughter to carry at her wedding.

Something new — The bride's dress, details of which will not be disclosed until the time of the wedding.

Something borrowed — A rosy given to Luci's sister, Lynda Byrd, by Pope John XXIII during a family audience in September 1962. It is of mother of pearl and gold.

He'll have a drink — usually a beer — not very much. He dances and enjoys himself. He's always thinking of Luci."

MORE

Several times he talked of Nugent in this vein — as being level-headed, a "first rate kid" he respects and likes. "I think he'll make Luci happy," the President said.

While he hasn't seen as much of Pat's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerard P. Nugent of Wauegan, Ill., as he has of their son, there is no mistaking that he has taken a warm liking to them, too. He said that they have "good, strong, American common sense."

Johnson shed a bit of light on one question that has been a bit puzzling since Luci said she and her husband intend to live on a budget within their income, although both plan to go to school at the University of Texas.

Johnson said he doesn't know how much, but that the Nugents have degree in business administration. And, without saying how much, Johnson noted that "Luci has income of her own."

Eventually, Luci will receive a considerable inheritance, since a family financial statement has listed assets for her of about $500,000.

But Johnson said that of course, Pat still has to prove himself in business. He remarked that he doesn't think Luci is as good a businesswoman as her sister Lynda. But he said she has enough Taylor — from her mother's side of the family — so that she won't be too bad a businesswoman.

Whether it had any significance or not, Johnson said that Pat had lured him out to a professional football game the other night — something nobody else has done — and president Edward Bennett Williams of the Washington Redskins told him he had been looking for a public relations man with Pat's qualities.

The President described Luci as a girl who should be able to make her husband happy. He praised her cooking. He said she is more domestic, and much more religious than her sister.

"She comes in and says to me," the President said, "don't you feel the need to come home? I said sometimes they do go off to pray together, sometimes away from the White House."

The religious note runs through poems and letters Luci has written to her father over the years — warm, affectionate letters.

Some of the poems take the form of prayers. There was a letter on Jan. 20 of last year, the first anniversary of Johnson's Presidential inauguration, addressed on White House stationery to "Sweet Daddy."

"I love you," it said, "and I'm here with you, if there is anything at all I can do. I'm happy, and all I want now to do is be a help to you."

It was signed, "Love you, Luci," with a caricature of a smiling face framed in long, wavy hair.

Susan Also

Getting Set For Wedding

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Johnson wedding will be big news Saturday in the 1800 block of White Oak Avenue. The wedding of Susan Johnson, that is, not Luci.

While Luci Johnson, the President's daughter, is marrying Patrick J. Nugent in Washington, Susan will be exchanging vows with Kurt Nagel.

Both Susan and Luci were born July 2, 1947, both considered nursing careers, and both fathers are Democrats.

Both girls are Roman Catholics, and Luci is using the choir and organist from Susan's church, the Immaculate Heart of Mary. The maids of honor will be Lynda for Luci and Linda for Susan.

The grooms, Pat and Kurt, both went on active military duty on Nov. 28, 1965.

For awhile it was feared that Kurt, stationed at Ft. Lewis, Wash., might not get home as scheduled because of the airline strike.

Susan's father appealed to Luci's father and Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, D-Md., for help in getting Kurt to Baltimore. But Kurt made it on his own by hopping a military plane to Trenton, N.J., and then taking a train to Baltimore.

After a brief honeymoon, Kurt will be shipped to Viet Nam.

Move Slated On Building Renovation

Renovation of the Virginia Hotel into a state office building will probably be opened to bidders Monday after a meeting of the Louisiana Office Building Corporation, Sen. Jamar Adcock said Friday.

The rebuilding project has been estimated at $700,000. Adcock said he understood plans on the building were complete.

The only state office in the building now is the Public Service Commission. Ultimately some 300 state workers will be housed there.

Eleven agencies already have been designated for office space in the hotel as soon as their present lease arrangements expire.

Special Vote In Rapides Is Expected

Gov. John McKeithen will call a special election in Rapides Parish to fill the senator vacancy caused by the death of George Ray to correspond with the second Democratic primary in September, a Capitol source told the Morning World Friday.

The governor said at a press conference Friday that he might have to call a session to fill the vacant seat, but that he "hadn't considered it very much."

The source, who declined to be identified, said political factions in Alexandria were trying to iron out differences in attempts to have only two names on the ballot, thus preventing a runoff.

Lee's brother, Richard and his widow, have both been mentioned as candidates.

Unless an election is held, senatorial seat will be vacant during the special session called after the November general election for House and Senate reapportionment.

Washington Plans Get 'All Go' Sign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last sentimental touches were added, the bride party rehearsed, the White House primped and the church prepared for the noon wedding of Luci Baines Johnson and Patrick John Nugent.

The Washington weather looked cool and good for the nuptials of the President's daughter and her tall fiance from Waukegan, Ill.

Chances of rain "near zero," the forecaster said.

The White House was agog with excited bride and bridesmaids putting the last-minute touches to their pink-and-white bridal gowns, their hairdos and their parts in the big wedding at the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception.

Luci finally decided on the sentimental items — something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue, and a sixpence for her shoe.

The bride-to-be slept late today and expected to be up late at a wedding-eve dinner and dancing party given for the bride and her future in-laws, Mr. and Mrs. Gerard P. Nugent.

Luci and Nugent arrived arm in arm 25 minutes late for the afternoon rehearsal at the church and were greeted by a crowd of about 800 including many nuns, clergymen and tourists, who cheered and applauded the wedding party.

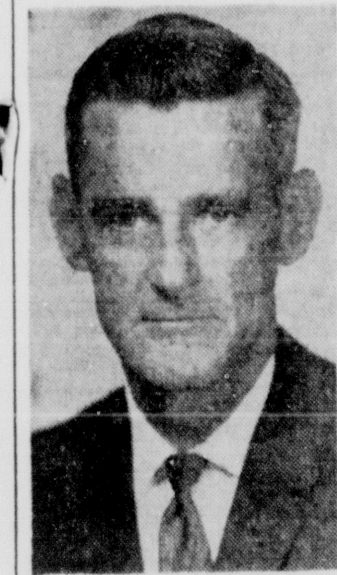

The Johnsons and the Nugents responded with waves of their hands, smiles and then some personal handshakes amid the crowds.

Asked how things were going, the day before their wedding, 23-year-old Nugent said, "Hectic, hectic!" When Luci was asked if she was nervous, she said in a low voice, "Yes."

Most of the crowd dispersed after the newlyweds-to-be entered the church but some remained to see President Johnson arrive unexpectedly for a 20-minute runthrough of his part in Saturday's ceremony. He led his daughter down the aisle, with Luci wearing a bedsheet over her shoulders to simulate the bridal train.

As Johnson was walking outside the church one spectator cried loudly, "Butcher! Murderer!"

Presidency Aside For Awhile LBJ Takes Up Role As Father Of Bride

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson pushed the presidency aside for a little while Friday to think and talk and reminisce about his daughter Luci and her romance with the boy she marries today.

He was the picture of a pleased, happy man on the eve of this great event.

He couldn't get upstairs for lunch because so many other things were going on, so he had some soup and sandwiches and the usual tapioca pudding on a tray downstairs in the White House theater.

Before and after during his lunch, the President was leafing through albums, letters and photographs and telling how the father of the bride felt at this important, personal moment in his life.

"I'm going to miss Luci," he said. "She bounces in every morning. She comes in and kisses me goodnight. She always seems to be by my side when that seems to be the ingredient I wanted. I've always taken the position that anything she wanted to do, if she'd just take enough time to make the decision, I would go along with it because her judgment is very good."

Along the way, Johnson said of Luci: "I think that she'll have a family and just as many as the Good Lord will let her. She'll have a houseful of kids."

He let it be known that they shouldn't be having too many financial problems to start with.

The President recalled that he and Mrs. Johnson always wanted a son very much. "And Luci," he said, "is really bringing us the kind of a boy we want."

The President summed up his impression of Patrick J. Nugent: "He's pretty much an all-American."

He said his daughter is bringing them a son for whom they have deep affection, deep respect, and in whom he and Mrs. Johnson have confidence.

"He's a real good fourth at the dinner table or swimming, or driving over the ranch. If someone comes in the room, he's the first one up. If someone wants a match, he's the first to get it."

"His solutions are always good and logical. He smokes."

As the youngster makes the long journey down the church aisle, The White House announced that these will be the traditional items carried by the bride:

Something old — a 58-year-old ivory lace handkerchief made by Luci's great-grandmother, Ruth Ament Huffman Baines, for her daughter to carry at her wedding.

Something new — The bridal dress, details of which will not be disclosed until the time of the wedding.

Something borrowed — A rosary given to Luci's sister, Lynda Byrd, by Pope John XXIII during a family audience in September 1962. It is of mother of pearl and gold.

Susan Also Getting Set For Wedding

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Johnson wedding will be big news Saturday in the 1800 block of White Oak Avenue. The wedding of Susan Johnson, that is, not Luci.

While Luci Johnson, the President's daughter, is marrying Patrick J. Nugent in Washington, Susan will be exchanging vows with Kurt Nagel.

Both Susan and Luci were born July 2, 1947, both considered nursing careers, and both fathers are Democrats.

Both girls are Roman Catholics, and Luci is using the choir and organist from Susan's church, the Immaculate Heart of Mary. The bridesmaids will be Lynda for Luci and Linda for Susan.

The grooms, Pat and Kurt, both went on active military duty on Nov. 28, 1965.

For awhile it was feared that Kurt, stationed at Ft. Lewis, Wash., might not get home as scheduled because of the airline strike.

Susan's father appealed to Luci's father and Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, D-Md., for help in getting Kurt to Baltimore. But Kurt made it on his own by hopping a military plane to Trenton, N.J., and then taking a train to Baltimore.

After a brief honeymoon, Kurt will be shipped to Viet Nam.

Move Slated On Building Renovation

Renovation of the Virginia Hotel into a state office building will probably be opened to bidders Monday after a meeting of the Louisiana Office Building Corporation, Sen. Jamar Adcock said Friday.

The rebuilding project has been estimated at $700,000. Adcock said he understood plans on the building were complete.

The only state office in the building now is the Public Service Commission. Ultimately some 300 state workers will be housed there.

Eleven agencies already have been designated for office space in the hotel as soon as their present lease arrangements expire.

Special Vote In Rapides Is Expected

Gov. John McKeithen will call a special election in Rapides Parish to fill the senator vacancy caused by the death of George Ray to correspond with the second Democratic primary in September, a Capitol source told the Morning World Friday.

The governor said at a press conference Friday that he might have to call a session to fill the vacant seat, but that he "hadn't considered it very much."

The source, who declined to be identified, said political factions in Alexandria were trying to iron out differences in attempts to have only two names on the ballot, thus preventing a runoff.

Lee's brother, Richard and his widow, have both been mentioned as candidates.

Unless an election is held senatorial seat will be vacant during the special session called after the November general election for House and Senate reapportionment.

Big-Footed Thing

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Footprints measuring 18 inches and having a stride of 12 feet were discovered at a rubber estate near Segamat, a small town about 80 miles from here, the Straits Times reported. Villagers told newsmen they believe the prints were made by a giant ape.

U.S. Judge Acts To Block Move In Plaquemines To Dispose Of School Property

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A federal judge acted Friday to block any move by Plaquemines Parish to dispose of public school property before final decision on a school desegregation suit.

The temporary restraining order granted by Judge Herbert W. Christenberry climaxed the first day of a Department of Justice suit aimed at one of the South's citadels of segregation.

The hearing was recessed until Thursday. Leander Perez, white-haired and pugnacious segregation leader, walked out scowling thoughtfully.

Early in the hearing, Perez stopped perilously close to being hit by a contempt of court citation by Christenberry, a sharp-eyed judge who imposes strict decorum in court.

"Your statements indicate that this court could rule with out taking into consideration the facts of the case," he told Perez sternly. "What you have suggested comes close to contempt. I have great respect for you and I'd hate to place a man of your years in jail."

Perez, 76, apologized. He had aroused the judge by asking that the record reflect the judge's remarks about taking judicial of Perez' segregationist efforts and of violence which blocked school desegregation efforts in the parish.

This protest came after the judge waved aside his carefully prepared strategy of attacking the 14th Amendment which forms the basis of the civil rights movement. It guarantees equal rights to all.

"This case will be presented more thoroughly, more seriously than any other single case that has ever been presented to federal court," said Perez before the hearing.

Judge Christenberry called it the most disorderly case he had ever seen presented.

The rulings on various motions soon stripped the case to the fundamental question of whether there was a pattern of enforced school segregation in Plaquemines Parish.

The restraining order against any disposal of school property by the parish commission council was asked by the Justice Department lawyer, Hugh Fleischer, who said he feared the commission council was on the verge of trying to set up private schools.

Testimony had brought out that the parish school board recently transferred ownership titles to all school property to becomes of a private school system if desegregation becomes inevitable.

The judge also granted Fleischer's request that the commission council and all its members be made defendants in the case.

Public meetings have been held in the oil-rich Mississippi River parish, which extends southward below New Orleans, on the possibility of a private school system if desegregation recent "census" in which parents of the 7,160 school children were contacted at home by school employees.

In refusing to hear arguments on the 14th Amendment, the judge said:

"That's all right for some pending desegregation suit."

For white parents, the form walle, said she listed Woodlawn, parish superintendent of schools, would they refuse to send their a Negro school because:

"I was afraid of being either fired from the job or run out of the parish."

Two witnesses—a Negro mother, Mrs. Alberta Anderson, and a white father, Harold Smith—had them list a choice of school for their children. It did not sure when they signed the forms.

Mrs. Anderson of Braith-

Smith, of Triumph, said his wife signed the form during his absence and that he later agreed to change it.

"I changed my mind because of the uncertainty of what was presented to me, that it would be better for me," he said, un-

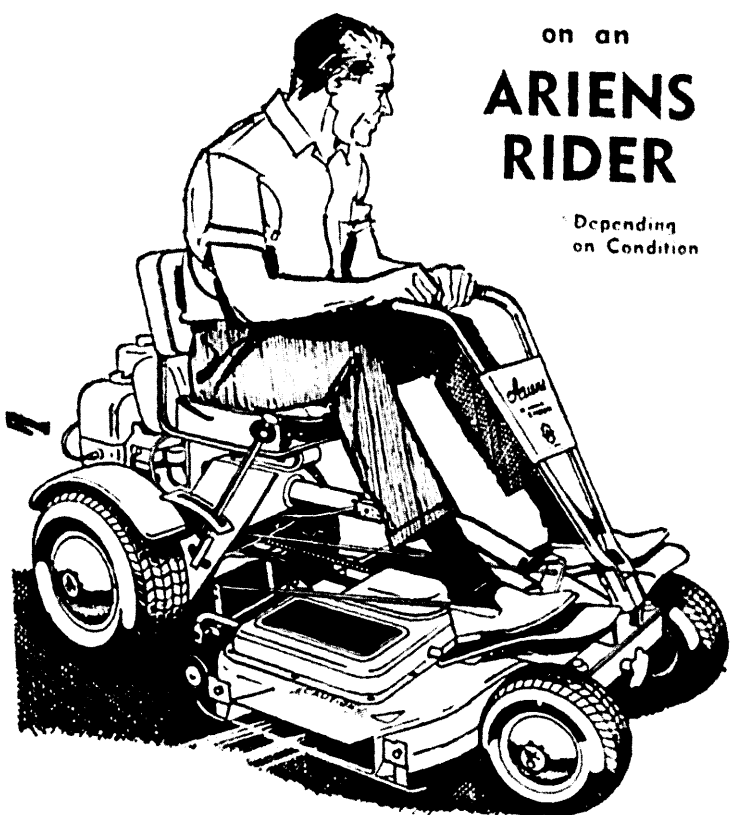

Christenberry angrily announced that the audience, mainly Plaquemines Parish residents, would be cleared out if there was another similar outbreak.

"It is serious business when a man has to worry about his job now, are you?" asked the judge said.

Woman Kills Self In Jail At Franklin

FRANKLIN, La. (UPI)—A woman prisoner awaiting arraignment on charges of forgery and is unresponsive check, apparently hanged herself in the St. Mary Parish Jail early today.

Sheriff Chester Baudon identified the woman as Marjorie G. Canty, 41, of Morgan City. Baudon said she was arrested Thursday and was scheduled to be arraigned Monday.

He said she was also wanted for similar charges in Jefferson Davis and Calcasieu Parishes.

Baudon said the woman's body was discovered early today when she failed to answer a call from the jailer. He said she used razor blades, she had concealed in her clothing, to cut a rope on her bunk. He said she had apparently put the rope around her neck and jumped off the commode in the cell.

Baudon said she left several notes to relatives but declined to disclose the contents of the messages.

Poverty Roll Lists Parolee As Director

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., said Friday he had asked antipoverity officials in Washington for a "full report and explanation" of Warren County's antipoverity program.

Fountain said he was "deeply disturbed" by reports that a key staff member of the antipoverity agency at Warrenton had been hired while on parole from life imprisonment for burglary.

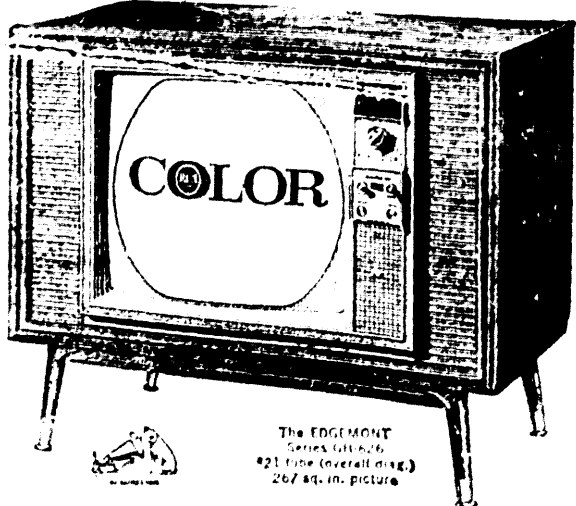

The 2nd Dist. Congressman said he also had called the matter to the attention of the White House.

The Rev. G. E. Check of Warrenton is director of the antipoverity agency in Warren County, the Memorial Forest Recreation Center. His son, Charles, Alvin Check, is business manager.

Records of the North Carolina Board of Paroles show Charles Alvin Check was convicted in 1951 in Wake County Superior Court on two counts of being an accessory before the fact of first degree burglary and three counts of second degree burglary.

He was given two life sentences and three concurrent 30-year terms. The life sentences later were commuted to 40 years, and Check was paroled in 1962.

A parole board spokesman said Check had been paroled to work in the Memorial Forest Recreation Center. The spokesman said he was still on parole.

"Your statements indicate that this court would rule without taking into consideration the facts of the case," he told Perez sternly. "What you have suggested comes close to contempt. I have great respect for you and I'd hate to place a man of your years in jail."

Perez, 76, apologized. He had aroused the judge by asking that the record reflect the judge's remarks about taking judicial efforts and of violence which blocked school desegregation efforts in the parish. His protest came after the judge waved aside his carefully prepared strategy of attacking the 14th Amendment, which forms the basis of the civil rights movement. It guarantees equal rights to all.

"This case will be presented more thoroughly, more seriously... than any other single case that has ever been presented to federal court," said Perez before the hearing.

Judge Christenberry called it the most disorderly case he had ever seen presented.

The rulings on school motions soon stripped the case to the fundamental question of whether there was a pattern of enforced school segregation in Plaquemines Parish.

The restraining order against any disposal of school property by the parish commission-council was asked by the Justice Department lawyer, Hugh Fleischer, who said he feared the commission-council was on the verge of trying to set up private schools.

Testimony had brought out that the parish school board recently transferred ownership titles to all school property to the commission-council, which is headed by Perez.

The judge also granted Fleischer's request that the commission-council and all its members be made defendants in the case.

Public meetings have been held in the oil-rich Mississippi River parish, which extends southward below New Orleans, on the possibility of a private school system if desegregation becomes of a private school system if desegregation becomes inevitable.

In refusing to hear arguments on the 14th Amendment, the judge said:

"That's all right for some meeting of laymen but not for lawyers. This is not an issue for the courts. It is a political issue."

Testimony dealt in part with a recent "census" in which parents of the 7,160 school children were contacted at home by school employees.

The form for Negro parents had them list a choice of school for their children. It did not mention desegregation or the impending desegregation suit.

For white parents, the form posed two choices. Would they send their children to integrated schools with Negroes? Or would they refuse to send their children to integrated schools? Two witnesses—a Negro mother, Mrs. Alberta Anderson, and a white father, Harold Smith—testified they came under pressure when they signed the forms the "wrong" way.

Mrs. Anderson of Braithwaite, said she listed Woodlawn, a white school, as her choice for three of her 10 children. She said she later changed the choice to a Negro school because:

"I was afraid of being either fired from the job or run out of the parish."

She said her decision came after a member of the school board called on her at work, and after she had two telephone conversations with S. A. Moncla, parish superintendent of schools.

Smith, of Triumph, said his wife signed the form during his absence and that he later agreed to change it.

"I changed my mind because of the uncertainty of what was presented to me, that it would be better for me," he said, under cross-examination by Sidney Provansal Jr.

"Did you take that as a threat?" asked Provansal. "Were you worried about your job?"

"No," said Smith. "You are not worried about your job now, are you?" asked

Provansal. "Well, I don't know."

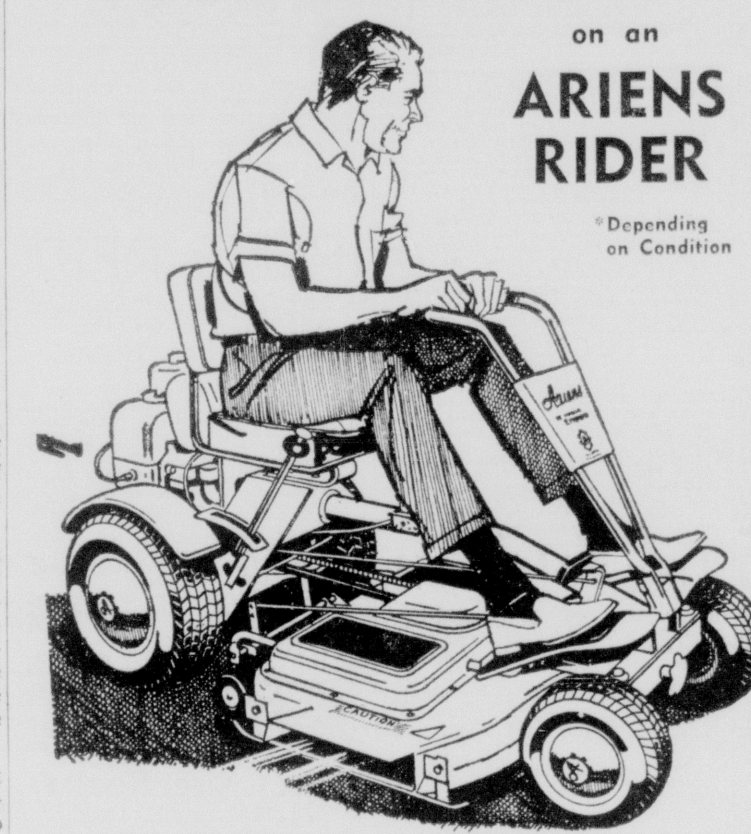

There was a ripple of laughter in the courtroom and Judge Christenberry angrily announced that the audience, mainly Plaquemines Parish residents, would be cleared out if there was another similar outbreak.

"It is serious business when a man has to worry about his job because he testifies in federal court," the judge said.
